D.C. Garden Expert Retires

By FRANK LaPIERRE

August J. Conci will be honored by his friends at a retirement party Oct. 5, ending 35 years with the city of Daly City.

Conci is not a quiet man. Nor does he, as President Theodore Roosevelt once declared, "walk softly and carry a big stick."

The head of the city's parks system is a blustery native of the Daly City-Colma area and more often than not can be seen carrying a big shovel.

Since he first undertook the job on a contract basis, to green the sand dunes of Marchbanks Park in 1940 for a mere $3,200, Conci has set his sights on turning the city into a giant flower bed.

He is, his friends say, like his favorite tree — the oak — sturdy and unwilling to bend.

Once Conci has made up his mind on a project there is no changing it, according to his longtime friend, Councilman Bernard "Bud" Lycett.

"I credit Augie with being the creative force in the development of our parks," Lycett said. "There will be no replacing him, because there is only one August Conci."

There were other words of praise by city officials, past and present, at a private dinner party held at Trader Vic's in San Francisco last week.

Frank Pacelli, former Daly City mayor, called Conci "a man who is singularly responsible for making our city a nicer place to live."

August was born to Pietro and Faustina Conci in the sleepy town of Colma (now Daly City) in 1906, population 8,000.

"Pete" Conci owned a nursery, the "Pete Conci & Sons Nursery," on Junipero Serra Boulevard, where he sold flowers wholesale and retail.

In 1930 the name of the business was changed to "Lake Merced Nursery."

But in 1963 the eight-lane Junipero Serra Freeway plowed through the nursery property. "It meant I had more time to spend on city projects," Conci says.

He spent every day and many nights working for the city — without extra compensation — officials point out.

An orange pickup truck with the city emblem on the door and radio installed in the cab stood by the Concis' front door to take him to the scene of a flood, broken water line or whatever else might jeopardize his beloved plants and trees.

His fondness toward roses is evident by the award-winning rose garden behind city hall on 90th and Sullivan avenues.

The city hall itself has won awards for landscaping.

Conci calls the civic center landscape project "my most difficult."

Asked why he selected the rose and oak as his two favorites, Conci replied:

"The oak endures. And the beauty of a rose 'weeping' with early morning dew cannot be surpassed."

Conci has been called the "green legend" by some of his friends over the years.

Tickets to the retirement party may be obtained by calling the Daly City Recreation Parks and Maintenance Department from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Cost is $8 per person.

New City Parks Aide Appointed

Daly City city manager David Rowe has appointed Edward Tomasello as acting superintendent of city parks on the retirement of August J. Conci Sept. 30.

The appointment will not exceed six months, it was learned.

Conci will retire as head of the city's parks system after some 35 years with Daly City. A testimonial is scheduled to be held in his honor at the Brentwood Lodge, South San Francisco, Oct. 5.

Tomasello is presently with the city's Recreation, Parks and Maintenance department of the city.

There will be no change in his pay during the assignment period, Rowe said.

Trustee Tomasello May Resign Post

Jefferson Elementary School District trustee Edward Tomasello is considering resigning from the school board and will announce his resignation in the near future, the Post has learned.

The longtime school board trustee whose term expires in 1976, said he would resign his post with the JESD to devote more time to his new duties as head of the Daly City Parks System.

"This new job (as parks superintendent) means a great deal to me, and I don't think I can handle both the school board post and my added duties at the same time," Tomasello said.

Edward Tomasello

Tomasello, elected to the board in 1967 and re-elected in 1971, studied ornamental horticulture at San Francisco City College and will be assuming the post held by Parks Superintendent August J. Conci who will retire on Sept. 30.

It was understood Tomasello had given the resignation "much thought" and had contacted both the San Mateo County Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Myron H. Schussman, and acting JESD superintendent Keith Breon.

Breon had advised him to "wait a day or two" until his offices had time to check out new laws governing either the appointment or election of a replacement to the Board, Tomasello said.

Colma Recall Election

With the Oct. 2 special recall elections of Colma councilman Raymond D. Ottoboni only a week away things are starting to come to a boil in that small community of some 500 living inhabitants.

Charges and counter-charges, accusations and denials are being tossed around by both sides as the recall race moves toward its final goal — the ballot box.

The recall petition was circulated in the city twice, each time getting enough signatures to qualify it for the ballot.

On the first outing the petition was rejected because of the failure of petitioners to publish a notice of intention to circulate a petition.

Currently, there are some 270 registered voters in Colma, something of a phenomenon for a city the size of Colma. Polls will be open Tuesday at City Hall from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. according to City Clerk Blanche Lagomarsino.

Recall Principals

Councilman Farber Hurt In Crash

Pacifica councilman Stanley M. Farber was injured in an automobile accident Sunday — which resulted in delay for several items at Monday night's council meeting.

The accident took place at 9 a.m. on Terra Nova Blvd., 350 feet south of Evergales Drive according to Pacifica police. Farber was driving southbound in his late model small foreign car when he struck two parked cars, belonging to Donald Haver, 1351 Terra Nova Blvd., and and Charles W. Hensley, 1362 Terra Nova Blvd., Pacifica police reported.

Farber, who lives at 992 Park Pacifica Ave., was rushed to Mary's Help Hospital where he was treated for facial lacerations and injuries to both knees.

At last night's meeting, it was reported that Farber was not feeling well enough to attend the meeting. As a result, his proposal for an additional raise for pay for city employes was held over to the next meeting, scheduled Oct. 8.

Farber had previously argued that since most city employes had settled for a five per cent pay increase July 1 and firemen held out to Sept. 1 for a 5.3 per cent pay increase, all the city employes were likewise entitled to a full 5.3 per cent pay increase.

Also held over was a proposal to establish a new city commission, Transportation, Health and Safety Commission, and to abolish two commissions — Transportation and Highways, and Health and Safety.

7-11 Store Held Up

Two men held up the Skyline 7-Eleven Store in Pacifica Sunday night and escaped with $200, Pacifica police reported.

Police said the clerk fired a volley of shots at the duo as they sped away down Manor Drive, shattering side window of their late model Japanese car, but failing to stop them. Police believe one man might have been injured by a bullet.

Clerks Robert Dale Kilby, 30, and Michael Ifft, 17, were at the cash register as the two leviclad men came in. One pulled a .45-caliber automatic out of his brown leather jacket and ordered: "Stand back!"

"You're kidding!" Police said Kilby replied. "But when the visitor pointed his gun right at him and barked: "Stand back, put your hands behind your back." Kilby complied.

The second man held a wiping towel while he opened the cash registers. The duo then ordered both clerks to lay on the floor, face-down, and ordered a lone customer to "stay cool and live."

General Plan

D.C. Amendments Adopted

Far reaching amendments to the Daly City General Plan were adopted by an unusual split vote of the city council amidst much protest from an overflow crowd at City Hall Monday night.

The council vote was unusual because only three of the four councilmen attending the Monday night session could cast their votes on the issue of adopting the amendments—first step in establishment of a redevelopment area for the city — and the three remaining councilmen were divided in their opinions on the matter.

Councilman Paul Hupf said he voted against adoption "because I'm not convinced blight exists in the target area . . . the staff has not proved (to me) the need for redevelopment."

Hupf, who cast his dissenting vote in the face of Councilman Victor Kyriakis and Mayor Anthony Giamonna's "aves," charged that the proposed general plan amendment was simply a vehicle to get past the "blight" aspects governing establishment of redevelopment areas.

"The amendments don't say anything, they're too general," he said.

COUNCILMAN Bernard J. Lycett and McRobert Stewart were not allowed to vote on the issue because both were absent from the meeting in which the public hearing on the matter was closed, City Atty. Albert Polonsky explained.

After sitting silently for the better part of an hour, Lycett informed a woman critic he was not "ducking this issue."

"I missed last week's meeting, the first meeting I've missed all year. It was a trip I had planned for some time. I'm not trying to duck anything," Lycett said.

Conrad Pavellas, co-chairman of the Original Daly City Protective Association, which boasts some 900 members in the older section of the community, asked early in the meeting whether the hearing could be reopened in view of the fact Stewart and Lycett were in attendance.

Polonsky said this was the prerogative of the council. However, when the question raised by Mayor Giammona it failed to pass.

Instead, Giommona informed Pavellas the matter could be discussed during the "oral communications" part of the public meeting.

At one point in the meeting, several persons stood and began milling about near the front of the meeting chambers to protest what they termed the council's "railroading" of the general plan amendment.

Pavellas said his group protested the inclusion in the general pleas dealing with streets and housing.

Giammona said the council earlier listened to Pavellas' protests regarding housing and had decided to exclude this section from the plan.

The council had decided to await a citizens' committee report on housing now under study by staff, Kyriakis said.

But Pavellas felt the "streets" amendment to the general plan were equally threatening to the welfare of families in the proposed redevelopment target area near the Bay Area Rapid Transit station on Knowles Avenue.

"This (streets) is the gimmick that will turn on the bulldoz-Pavella said.

The amendment reads:

"While the city is remarkably well served by interstate and state freeways, state highways and major arterials, its local streets are significantly deficient in some areas of the community.

"Many are aged, narrow with dangerous intersections, badly in need of repair and improvement, poor design, insufficient to carry traffic loads and unbelievably burdened with parked vehicles.

"The Hillcrest area is the most severely affected by these conditions, further complicated by poor subdivision design."

It was this section, coupled with the housing section, that Pavellas felt would be used as justification "to come right in and level our homes."

The city staff came in for a

Helicopter Pilot Killed Off Pacifica

A veteran helicopter pilot was killed Tuesday morning when his chartered craft plunged into the ocean some half mile off the coast of Pacifica near a sewage outfall pier construction site.

The body of former Vietnam combat helicopter pilot Floyd Weich, 26, of Santa Clara, was recovered two hours after his chopper crashed into 45 feet of water on takeoff from the pier, witnesses said.

Weich, employed by Astrocopter, Limited of Oakland, had just dropped off an employee of the Healy-Tibbetts Construction Company and was taking off when the accident occurred.

Witnesses said they heard the craft hit the water in the predawn darkness and light fog about 6:18 a.m.

The Coast Guard immediately dispatched two patrol vessels and a helicopter to aid in the rescue.

Divers from the construction site found the tangled wreckage of the helicopter some 200 yards off the pier. The victim was still strapped in the cockpit.

Using a huge crane installed on the off-shore pier, workers were able to raise some of the wreckage from the ocean floor.

Weich was a recent graduate of San Jose State University and had been flying to the off-shore rig "at least 100 times" a Coast Guard spokesman said.

There was no explanation of why the craft crashed on takeoff from the pier. An officials investigation is underway.

Chemicals Expert Fails to Attend Council Meet

A man invited to talk about the dangers of chemicals used in in Pacifica's rat and weed killing programs failed to appear before the city council Monday.

Ken Gammon, 777 Rockaway Beach Ave., Pacifica, had walked out angrily from the council meeting a month ago when Mayor Aubrey Lumley restricted him to five minutes during the public discussion period.

Instead, Philip A. Duffy, vector control specialist for the San Mateo County Department of Public Health, explained the rat poisoning program.

Duffy said five to 14 days of constant nibbling by the rat were required to build up the fatal effect. Because the effect of the poison is proportionate to the weight of the victim, a larger animal would not die from eating either a mouse or a rat which had eaten Warfarin.

THERE has been one known case of a person dying of Warfarin, he said, and that was during the Korean War, when a Korean stole poisoned grain and fed it to his family. A small child died a week later.

In recent years, there have been cases when persons have attempted suicide by eating it — and failed.

DURING A public hearing on the Weed Abatement Ordinance — an ordinance which Gammon had previously made controversial — a number of critical questions were asked.

Ruth Page, 178 Catalina Ave., asked if chemicals used to kill weeds renders the ground permanently sterile.

"What if someone builds a house on the lot and tries to grow a garden" she wondered.

LUMLEY assured her that specifications call for the chemical agent to be deactivated after six months. He explained that the program does not include open space but just "vacant land that had been subdivided," as well as rights of way and street frontages. It does not include backyards. Average cost per lot-owner comes to $45.

Jim Harrison, 1325 Grand Ave., charged that the weed control contractor last year failed to make a distinction between weeds and, "natural ground-cover."

"Why they should kill ivy gets me," he complained. "It won't burn. . . . There ought to be more control put on the contractor."

He also cited the contractor spraying an empty lot near his home which was used as a neighborhood ball field and had nothing growing on it.

Lumley told him that every lot owner is given the choice of spraying or paying the city to do it. Lot-owners can contact the fire department — which supervises the program.

Several of the problems brought up involved rubbish rather than weeds.

ED HOGUE, 164 Monte Verde Dr. — a street at the foot of San Pedro Mountain — complained that he had received a notice ordering him to clean up his rubbish. He had discovered that television sets and parts of junked cars were filling up his lot.

"I don't think an older man like me is up to removing such items. I'll be glad to remove smaller items, like the paper."

He said he had put a lock on the gate in front of his property, but people cut the lock, drive through the gate and dump their refuse.

Virginia Jaeger of Mina Lane, who heads the Pacific Highlands Residents Association also complained of rubbish. An unusable horse trail, which had long been the scene of an annual cleanup drive, had been abandoned and given to the neighboring homeowners. However, she complained, the old trail still collected rubbish.

Drunk Drivers Given '3d Choice'

San Mateo County's nine municipal court judges joined with research staff Sept. 17 to review behavioral techniques employed with first-time drunk driving offenders. The review was to serve as an update of information about a "Partnership for Health" 314 (d) project, starting its second year. Essentially, the project provides a range of three sentencing alternatives, each of which is to be evaluated during an 18-month follow-up.

In partnership with the judges (Judge F. J. de Larios is project advisor) the county Health and Welfare Department research effort was designed to determine whether behavior modification methods can block alcohol abuse before it produces personal tragedy and spiralling social cost. Three sentencing alternatives available to courts following a determination that a defendant was guilty of a first-time drunk driving offense were to be studied, according to Project Director Charles Faltz, Ph.D. (a psychologist member of the Mental Health Division Adult Courts and Corrections unit).

Two were relatively familiar: Sentence and-or fine the subject or impose a condition that he attend regularly scheduled adult education courses within high school districts in the north or south county.

Adding a new wrinkle was the third alternative: A 13-session "behavior course," where enrollees would become sensitized to their own drinking patterns, thereby acquiring increased control over their use of alcohol. Participation in the project, Dr. Faltz explained, was open to convicted persons on a purely volunteer basis. These volunteers then were assigned on a random basis to one of the three alternatives.

For research purposes, 40 individuals were to be enrolled in each of the three alternatives. Their subsequent arrest records were to be analyzed during the 18-month follow-up.

Volunteers assigned to the behavior course were given a further choice, whether to set for themselves the goal of achieving abstinence or moderation in their use of alcohol. Each volunteer was required to submit a consent form signed by his physician.

Carried out under contract by The Behavior Change Corp. (Los Angeles and Burlingame), the behavior course involved monitoring participants' drinking behavior. Each volunteer was required to set for himself a "shock level," which the volunteer considered sufficiently uncomfortable to act as a distinct reminder and cue concerning his own behavior while drinking. As participants used alcohol, staff administered electric shocks at these individually selected levels as a method of conditioning the participant to aspects of alcohol drinking behavior that had been agreed upon as indicators of the participant's alcohol abuse pattern.

Use of the behavioral course approach, although relatively new, has been tried in other areas. Orange County researchers, Dr. Faltz reported, have now completed a two year follow-up.

The findings show, he said, individuals who volunteered for the behavior course there seem to have exhibited moderate drinking or abstinence behavior over a longer percentage of the follow-up time period than did those in the alternative groups which received more conventional mental health psychotherapies.

Baton Corps Is Offered

The Daly City Recreation Department announces a baton corps for boys and girls four years of age and older will be offered this fall.

The class will be under the instruction of Mrs. Carol Craven and Mrs. Mary Jane Raffo. Program content will include twirling, strut and dance routines. Performances will be included during the program, and membership in the United States Twirling Association will be available for those interested.

The 10-week course will be Oct. 4-December 13 from 7-8 p.m. at Westlake Park Clubhouse, 149 Lake Merced Blvd.

Instruction fee of $10 per student, and students must furnish their own baton. Students may order batons when enrolling for the course at $3.50 extra.

To enroll, send name, address including zip code and daytime phone along with fee to the Daly City Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Blvd., Daly City 94014.

For details call 992-5356.

CSM Slates Youth Fest

"Festival for the Next Generation" will be Saturday at College of San Mateo's Fine Arts complex.

The no-admission event is the culmination of the combined efforts of the Community Services Department at CSM and the American Association of University Women, with aid from the 17th District P-TA, Children's Services of Central County Mental Health Center and the San Mateo Parent's Co-op Nursery School.

This first annual county-wide gathering of parents, children and area child-care authorities has been designed to call attention to the many local resources available to families locally.

"Festival's . . ." theme, "the measure of society's greatness is its concern for the next generation," will permit adults of San Mateo County to see the world through the eyes of their children. The objectives of the day are a broad community awareness of children as the greatest natural resource.

As incentive to families with small children to attend the function, a child-care center will be housed in the South Cafeteria at the Student Center. It will be staffed by professional nursery school personnel assisted by members of County youth groups.

Registration for child care will commence at 9:30 a.m. so that parents can be on hand when the scheduled events of the day's program get underway at 10 a.m. with simultaneous showings of a collection of short films.

Following the film showings, participants may choose to attend two of the five study modules. These sessions will be conducted by leading educators and psychologists in small, flexible groups with time allocated for discussion.

Participants are encouraged to bring a picnic style lunch. "Festival . . ." activities include entertainment throughout a two-hour lunch break. Puppeteers, painters and other artisans will conduct "try-out-a-new craft" demonstrations. Improvisational theater and dance groups will perform in the Little Theater and the Choral Room with strolling musicians, gymnasts and mime troupes.

Representatives from youth-oriented organizations in San Mateo County will be on hand to tell their story with information on clubs, groups and local community activities.

The afternoon seminar, conducted by Eleanor Curry, School Community Advisor for the San Mateo Elementary School District, will sum up the day's challenge by exploring the problem facing children of the next generation. "Cultural Pluralism — For the Children of the Future?" will explore where society must go from here to insure individual dignity within an educational framework.

Free Concert Scheduled

African and Caribbean dances by Bato-Koto and a poetry reading by San Francisco grass roots poets will be featured in a free concert Sept. 29 from 2 to 4 p.m., at the San Francisco Museum of Art.

The event is being sponsored by M.I.X., Museum Intercommunity Exchange.

Bata-Koto is a company of East Bay musicians, dancers and actors, who specialize in the performance of authentic music and dance from Africa, Cuba, Haiti, Jamaica, Trinidad, Brazil and the United States.

Poetry will be read by Geraldine Kutaka, Janice Cobb, Al Robles, Irwin McJunkins, Ayotcja Jiltonilro, Elias Hruska-Cortes, Kitty Tsui and Oscar Penaranda, a new breed of committed community poets.

Social Worker Available

A Social Service eligibility worker, Jeanne Donovan, is available in Daly City one day a week to take applications for the State Medi-Cal programs. Miss Donovan speaks Spanish.

She will be at Catholic Social Services, 6705 Mission St., Daly City.

All mail to her should be sent to the San Mateo Office of Health Care Eligibility, 225 W. 37th Ave., San Mateo, Ca. 94403.

On Mondays only, her telephone number is 992-4222. The rest of the week she can be reached at 573-2641 in San Mateo. (Or, call from Daly City 573-1800, Ext. 2641 in San Mateo.)

Loyola Guild Slates Meeting

Loyola Guild's next monthly meeting will be Oct. 5, at 1:45 p.m. in the University Center Lounge, USF Campus.

Advisory Board will meet at 1 p.m. in Room 413.

Rev. William C. McInnes, S.J., President of the University of San Francisco, will address the Guild on the "Status of the University."

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss; Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

"They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

"Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this certainly is no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing you hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

BASSA TRUSTEE John L. Molinari (Supervisor, City and County of San Francisco) reviews progress of first year of operation of Bay Area Sewage Services Agency with fellow Trustees Councilman Bernard J. Lycett of Daly City and San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald (right). Work of the past year involved preparation of Agency budget, civil service system and 1973 Regional Water Quality Management Plan. Trustee Molinari headed the Agency By-Laws Committee which established working procedures for the Agency's 21-member Board of Trustees, while Trustee Fitzgerald headed Agency Planning Committee responsible for development of 1973 Regional Plan.

Red Cross Center Picks New Chairman

Donald L. Moran, 3748 Fairfax Way, South San Francisco, has been appointed Chairman of the Advisory Committee, South San Francisco Service Center. As Chairman, he will coordinate a 17-member committee. This governing body interprets the needs of the community and decides how Red Cross can best meet some of those needs.

Before accepting his new position, Moran served for seven years as a member of the Golden Gate Red Cross Disaster Team. during that time, he provided first aid and canteen service for clean up crews during the San Francisco Oil Spill. As a disaster specialist, he responded to some 200 three alarm or greater fires providing Red cross emergency assistance. He also set up and managed shelter operation for area victims in the Roseville explosion.

An employee of Pacific Fruit Express Company, Moran is a member of the San Francisco Office of Emergency Service, CB Coordinator South San Francisco disaster Corporation and is President of REACT.

He sees the role of the Red Cross Service Center, 803½ Linden Avenue, as an extension of Red Cross programs and services which are disseminated from the San Mateo Region Red Cross in Burlingame.

"Often this involves new programs to fit new needs," states Moran. An example of this is the linguistic assistance the service center provides. Since 17 per cent of South City is Spanish speaking, many persons need tutoring in English. Consequently, the "Vital English" program was created. But he emphasizes that the Center is there to serve all the community and not just the Spanish-speaking population.

Moran also sees the service center in an informatonal role, referring persons to other agencies. He adds there is a close working relationship with both the Guadalupe Health Center and the South San Francisco Information and Referral Center with their employees actually serving on the advisory committee.

The Red Cross Service Center was formed in South San Francisco since representatives from both the School System and the Chamber of Commerce expressed a need for Red Cross assistance. The community was too isolated from the Burlingame office health related facilities.

Currently Moran states, the involvement has really picked up, but additional volunteers are needed to keep programs in full swing.

Staff coverage is needed Monday and Friday mornings and every afternoon except Tuesday.

The second in a series of illustrated lectures on the Bible will be presented by the Rev. John Rische at Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Pacifica, Oct. 1, at 7:30 p.m. The church is located on the Coast Highway across from the Rockaway Quarry.

Speaking on the topic, Noah's Ark and the Flood, Pastor Rische will present evidence he and others have gathered proving that a deluge such as the Bible actually took place.

The pastor will take his audience on a photographic tour of the Scriptures, the ark landed. Explorers have found hand tooled timbers buried in the ice pack of a glacier at an elevation of 14,000 feet.

A scientist at the University of California at Riverside, Prof. Franklin Turrel, who examined a piece of the wood, stated: "To find wood at the 14,000 foot level of a mountain should not have happened." Trees do not grow at that elevation.

League for Handicapped Seeks Items

The California League for the Handicapped is seeking handcrafted items of all kinds, to sell at its "Christmas Shop-In."

This sixth annual bazaar will be Nov. 10 from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the Hall of Flowers in Golden Gate Park. Admission is free.

Volunteer drivers will be available to pick up donations in San Francisco and Marin.

Proceeds from the event will be used to provide counseling, job placement and recreation for blind and multi-handicapped children and adults from the Bay Area.

California League for the Handicapped is a private, non-profit agency serving the needs of many people of all ages.

Greenwood Parley Asked

Jefferson Elementary School District trustee James Cranna asked that board chairman Dorothy Adams and district special attorney William R. Johnston negotiate with ousted school superintendent Frank Greenwood for financial settlement of contract. Greenwood had two years remaining on hiscontract when he was terminated some three months ago.

It was understood the amount to be considered in the case, which had been scheduled to enter the second day of trial Wednesday morning in Redwood City Superior Court, was not to exceed $20,000.

There were no instructions to the negotiators to discuss a similar settlement withRoger Barthuli fired from his job as Associate Superintendent for Business at the same time Greenwood was terminated.

The trial in Superior Court Judge Mel Cohn's court was called off after both sides reached tentative agreement in chambers.

Details of the private meeting, and of last week's closed door hearing in the school district, were not made public.

However, The Times learned Greenwood agreed to accepting the $20,000 settlement if he dropped his suit against the district and a private suit he had filed against trustee Mrs. Beverly Forrester.

He also agreed not to appeal the issue nor seek reinstatement to his former job, it was learned.

Neither Mrs. Adamsnor Mrs. Forrester would make any statement on the details, pending formal signing of the agreement with Greenwood today.

Barthuli's case is scheduled for trial on Oct. 1 in Redwood City.

JESD Enrollment Down

While over-all student enrollment in the Jefferson Elementary School District is down some 215 children from last year, school officials have recorded an increase in kindergarten age CHILDREN.

Where these "new" youngsters are coming from is a mystery to officials, Dr. Vin Stratton, Associate Superintendent for Instruction, told the School Board Wednesday.

Last year's enrollment figures during the opening week of school was 8,827, while this year the figure is down to 8,484.

"Financially we are fine because we projected a drop of students based on past records," Stratton said.

He was hopeful that the average daily student attendance would rise, as it has done in past years, and bring the total up slightly.

Stratton suggested some "juggling" of school teachers was in order because of crowding in some classes and drops in others.

Certificated Employees Council officials have voiced concern that the JESD has proportionately more administrators and students than it has teachers, Acting Supt. Keith Breon said.

The hiring of an additional sixth grade teacher and "one or two" kindergarten teachers was discussed by the Board and staff, but no action taken.

Stratton went over each school's attendance problems with the board.

The district class average, according to Stratton, is 28.8. Some schools, such as George Washington, are down to 25.7, h said.

It was also reported by Stra ton that contacts with the Ar diocese of San Francisco h indicated no Catholic schools the area would be closed in t foreseeable future.

It had been feared that b cause of government cutback in financial aid to these schoo they would close, placing heavy burden on local publi schools in Daly City.

Trustee David Parker said h did not find busing of kindergar ten children the answer to ba ancing class sizes within the 2 school district.

Deaths

JOHN W. WEST

John (Jack) W. West, 54, died Sept. 18 at Peninsula Hospital after an illness.

He was born in Olympia, Wash., and was a 17-year resident of Millbrae.

West was a dryer for the Phillips 66 Petroleum Co. for 29 years. He was a member of the Teamsters Union Local 85 of San Francisco and was an 11-year reserve police officer for Millbrae.

Surviving are his wife Katherine, with a daughter, Myrna Lahnert of San Bruno.

Funeral services were held Friday, 1 p.m. at the Chapel of the Highlands, Millbrae, followed by interment at the Oddfellows Cemetery in Tumwater, Wash. Offerings to the Cancer Fund are preferred.

CATHERINE McGUIRE

A Requim Mass was offered Friday at 10 a. m. for Mrs. Catherine E. McGuire who died Sept. 18 at Peninsula Hospital.

Mrs. McGuire wasa native of San Francisco and was a Millbrae resident for the past 26 years. She was a member of the St. Dunstan's Women's Club and the Millbrae Women's Club.

Surviving are two daughters, Patricia Zlatunich and Geraldine Martin, both of Millbrae, two brothers, William and Thomas Collins, both of San Francisco, and 11 grandchildren.

Interment followed at Golden Gate National Cemetery. Recitation of the Rosary took place Thursday, 8 p.m. at the Chapel of the Highlands in Millbrae. Spiritual bouquets or a donation to a favorite charity are preferred.

RONALD L. FOX

Ronald L. Fox, 58, of San Bruno, died Sept. 18 in San Francisco after an illness.

Fox was a native Californian and was a resident locally since 1956. He had been a letter carrier in San Francisco.

Surviving are his widow, Evelyn; three daughters, Janice Fox of Menlo Park, Judy Fox of Fremont, and Jennifer Fox of San Bruno; his mother, Theresa Fox of San Francisco; sister, Elyse Carter of Pacifica; four brothers, David Fox of Menlo Park, Lloyd of San Francisco; Dean Fox of Pacifica, and Forrest Fox of Akron, Ohio.

A Requiem Mass was celebrated Friday, 9:30 a.m. at St. Robert's Catholic Church of San Bruno, followed by interment at Holy Cross Cemetery. Rosary was recited Thursday, 8 p.m. at Chapel of the Highlands on Millbrae.

Save Lighting Costs: Fassler

San Mateo County Supervisor Jean Fassler suggested last Tuesday, that the county join in the current effort to conserve electrical energy by darkening county buildings at night.

Mrs. Fassler commented that complete floors of the Hall of Justice are kept lighted at night after custodians leave and asked Assistant County Manager Earl Goodwin if it wouldn't be possible to darken the structure where it wouldn't interfere with security. (The county jail is situated on the fourth floor of the eight-story building.)

"We could set an example for the public," the supervisor stated. Goodwin said he didn't know just what the policy is concerning keeping on lights through the night. He said he will find out and report to the board.

GIRL SCOUTING

TWIN CANYONS Girl Scout Camp, managed by Daly City's Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stewart, was the site of a recent joint work party trip of Cadette Troop 1620 and Senior troop 13, with a Mariner interest.

Cadette Troop 1620 is led by Mrs. Carole Ann Scott and Miss Karen Kjeldgaard who accomplished the girls, and Senior troop 13 is led by Mrs. Margaret aDmon.

"STAIRWAY TO THE STARS" is the name of the new trail blazed with sledge hammers, shovels and post hole diggers, according to Mrs. Scott. In an effort to combat erosion in the Twin Canyons' Camp and to comply with new fire laws and regulations, this work was necessary before the camp could be made operational for the fall, according to manager Fred Stewart.

Esther Espina, Diane Ridge, Maria Vical, Michelle Scott, Kim Gustafson, Leana Medina, Tammy McCoy, Monica Berning and Patrice Bender joined Jane Stewart and Helen Rodgers.

TODAY, the leadership recruitment campaign coordinated locally with the national ad campaign of TV, radio, magazines and press, continues as interested adults are asked to call their local Girl Scout office and ask for Mrs. Green.

Community groups such as the American Association of Retired Persons and Senior Citizen groups are (wo)manning the phones in central locations such as Brisbane for the San Francisco West Bay, to answer questions about opportunities available to adults in Scouting.

SCOUTING LEADERSHIP, today, is open to men as well as women; to grandmothers as well as mothers; and to young businesspeople who realize there is something missing from their lives when they're cut off from the mainstream of family living.

GIRL SCOUTS come in all shapes, sizes, colors and attitudes; and, they need adults in all shapes, sizes, colors and attitudes to develop their individual potential, according to the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council.

KIT'S KAPERS for this week, open to all registered Scout adults, sign-up through the Brisbane Scout office, 58 Cypress Lane (467-3330), are scheduled Sept. 29 from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Diablo Valley College in Pleasant Hill.

OUTDOOR SKILLS expert in camping and opening up the heart of the city, Catherine T. (Kit) Hammett will be in San Mateo County next month to teach a series of workshops to local youth leaders.

Ms. Hammett is retired from the national Girl Scout staff, is a former president of the American Camping Association, and is the author of the bestselling pocketbook "Your Own Book of Campcraft."

Her local appearances will include teaching a course for experienced Girl Scout leaders and trainers at King Recreation Center, San Mateo Oct. 9 from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Her introductory workshop, designed for young o rnew leaders, teen-age girls, and those working with children for the first time on a volunteer basis, will be at Sigmund Stern Grove, San Francisco Oct. 6 from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

OPERA LOVERS jammed the Golden Gate Park Music Concourse recently to hear soprano Licia Albanese and tenor Luciano Pavarotti and the San Francisco Opera Orchestra led by Maestro Kurt Herbert Adler. Mayor Joseph L. Alioto and John Brucato, a director of the First National Bank of Daly City and who is an old friend of Miss Albanese, presented keys to the city to the guest soprano and tenor during intermission. Miss Albanese is godmother to Brucato's niece, Barbora Steuernagel. Mayor Alioto recalled how Miss Albanese used to unwind after performances by singing and cooking at Brucato's wholesale wine house. Picture, left to right, Brucato, Alioto, Miss Albanese and Pavarotti. (Post photo by Gary Kauf)

Sims Appointed D.C. Public Works Head

Daly City city manager David R. Rowe has announced the promotion of Michael J. Sims to the position of Public Works Supervisor in the Department of Public Works, Streets Division.

The position is responsible for street and storm sewer maintenance programs in the city.

Sims will supervise various Corporation Yard facilities and equipment.

Sims successfully competed in a Civil Service examination which qualified him for the position.

He formerly served as maintenance foreman in the City's Department of Recreation, Parks and Maintenance. He has been employed by the city for the past 17 years, having started in the street department as maintenance man in 1956.

Sims was previously appointed to the position of Central Serviceman in the finance department in 1961, and has been serving as maintenance foreman since 1970.

Sims and his wife, Shirley, and their two children reside in Daly City. He received his education at Sacred Heart High School in San Francisco and at Skyline Colllege.

'Day at Races'

Mrs. Dario Baciocco, chairperson of the Westlake Catholic Women's seventh annual "Day at the Races," scheduled for Oct. 17 has announcedf that tickets for the event are now on sale.

Tickets will include buffet luncheon, reserved seats at the Turf Club and the program.

For reservations call Mrs. Baciocco, 755-8249.

Sleep in.

Right after you move in.

Into Stonegate Townhomes. Up in the country. While you're at the heart of major commute routes to San Francisco and the Peninsula. Where you can catch an extra 40 winks, while others are already bumper-to-bumper.

And after work, you're home fast. Above the traffic. And crowded communities. In your Stonegate Townhome. Where the pace of living goes easy. So you can take it easy. On your own private terrace. Or out on your deck. Far from the hustle and bustle of your workaday world.

Come up to Stonegate Townhomes. Where you'll find those extra precious minutes to sleep in.

2 bedroom, 1½ bath and 3 bedroom, 2½ bath townhomes with fireplace from $35,500. Conventional financing – as low as 5% down.

From Bayshore Fwy. take Grand Ave. South S.F. exit to Chestnut, turn right. From Hwy. 280, take Westborough east to Chestnut. Turn right at Hillside Blvd. to Stonegate Drive. Follow signs to office of Walker & Lee, Inc., exclusive sales agents. Phone: 873-6820.

Sewage Plant Turned On

Still a number of weeks from completion, Pacifica's new $5 million sewage treatment plant was turned on last week for the first time, City Mgr. Dave Thompson reported.

Meanwhile, the two original plants, which are being replaceed by the new plant, are continuing to treat Pacifica's sewage until engineers are satisfied that the new plant is performing to peak efficiency by next week. Thompson said, phasing out operations will begin with the Linda Mar plant, situated on the San Pedro Beach, and the old Sharp Park plant, which is surrounded entirely by the new plant. New pumps in Linda Mar are also being tested, to send the effluent along its journey to Sharp Park.

Meanwhile, plans are proceeding for dedication of the new fishing pier and sewage plant. It will be an all day affair, now tentatively set for Nov. 10.

"We hope by then it will be completely finished," Thompson said, "if rains don't foul us up."

Many cleanup items remain to be done, Thompson said. These include parts of the mission-type walls, landscaping, and other trim.

Civic leaders who have had a part in the creation of the plant are being invited to take part in the dedication which is planned as an all-day affair, with the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations working on plans. Being discussed are a parade, fishing derby and carnival.

The Linda Mar plant, located near the home of Supervisor Jean Fassler, has been purchased by the Division of Highways.

The project will not only insure Pacifica of clean beaches but will provide it with a 1050-foot long fishing pier, expected to attract fishermen from throughout San Francisco and the Peninsula. A concession building at the foot of the pier is now nearing completion as well. Final work in laying the last part of the undersea sewer main is being undertaken with the aid of a tug boat, crane and barge and helicopter.

Meanwhile, local city officials are hoping they can begin the final phase of the sewer project as soon as practical—a million dollar project to add secondary treatment to the effluent.

ENRIQUE AND IRENE VALDEZ, managers of the PAL Pee Wee Detectives, are shown making a contribution to Police Athletic League Secretary Jim Datzman. The contribution was the result of the couple's efforts in furnishing refreshments for sale at the Pee Wee League Baseball games during the entire season.

Bay Leaders To Honor Riles

Organizations and leaders of 11 Bay Area counties will join in a testimonial dinner honoring Dr. Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 16, in the grand ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

Reservations at $50 per person or $500 per table of ten are available by calling 777-1974, or by sending a check to the Wilson Riles Dinner, 1025 Lombard St., Suite 6, San Francisco 94109.

Speech Class At SSF High

A new speech class designed to teach better speech-making and better use of language in ordinary conversation will begin Sept. 26 at 7:30 p.m. in room C-6 at South San Francisco High School.

The class is taught by William Simonson, well-known in Toastmasters Club activities in the county, and is sponsored by the South San Francisco Adult School.

A Wish

A wish for the day: Let the man who precedes his column with a noose hang by his own rope. Let him beware lest he boil in the cynicism that destroyed the art of his mentor, Ambrose Bierce.

For his moth-eaten definitions I offer a few of my own.

Politician, n. 1. An office holder whose job is a public trust. 2. A person who works with the public peering over his right shoulder and reporters over his left. 3. One who manages public affairs while suffering the inanities of most of the crackpots in the community and one who must listen to tons of rhetoric from screwballs, loudmouths, self-appointed saviors and selfish men. 4. A public servant who is forced by custom to "slobber over babies—and babes—and motormouth tired cliches "to convince callow voters that he should retain his job. 5. One who is not protected by minimum wage and minimum hour laws or provisions.

Politics. n. 1. The art and science of government. 2. The practice of managing public affairs. 3 An activitp that does not interest enough people or command the respect it deserves.

Political Reporter, n., preceded by an adjective. 1. One who can perform a great service to his community if he exercises the objectivity he demands of office holders and other politicians. 2. One who must be wary of contacting a disease noticeable by such symptoms as a lack of knowledge, a glib pen, a desire to turn a smart phrase, and irresponsibility.

An excellent book entitled "Government Is Your Business" by James Keller asks a few questions of any citizen interested in the operations of government. Surely a review of them will prove worthwhile:

1. To what extent am I participating in the betterment of my government?

2. Do I hold up service in government as an honorable occupation to which the best citizens should aspire or do I use every opportunity to belittle and ridicule those who undertake a career in government?

3. Do I indiscriminately brand everyone in government as a "grafter" or a "crook" and thus slander those who are doing as honest and efficient a job as most others who earn their living outside of government?

4. Am I constantly harping on defects in government and seldom if ever drawing attention to the service it renders each and all of us?

5. Do I merely sit on the side lines with a "let George do it" attitude or am I constantly striving to take a hand in the preservation and development of the God-given liberties which it is my business to protect?

6. Do I expect others to provide first-class government at a smaller salary than I myself would take for the same job?

7. Do I make the bad mistake of labeling every forward move in correcting social abuses as Communism, Fascism or Socialism, or do I distinguish intelligently and objectively between infringement of government upon the individual and normal public service?

8. Do I run the risk of oversimplifying delicate and complicated problems of government by jumping to hasty conclusions that solve nothing and do little more than muddy the waters further?

9. Do I make it a practice to disagree without getting disagreeable when discussing weaknesses and difficulties of government?

10. Do I become so preoccupied with the little issues that I miss the big ones?

11. Am I so wrapped up in my own interests that I overlook what is best for the country and everybody in it?

Knights Hold Bowling Tourney

Marian Council No. 3773, Knights of Columbus, recently held a Kings, Queens and Juniors Bowling Tournament at Serra Bowl.

Results are as follows: Men's scratch, George Fappiano, 447; Women's scratch, Virginia Rusting, 332; Intermediates' scratch, Mike Kaschak, 333; and Juniors' scratch, Darlen Rusting, 181.

Receiving trophies in the high handicap category were: Ray Tschirgi, Virginia Curr, Laura Tschirgi and Jennifer Haug. The Good Sport Award was presented to Mary Tschirgi.

In addition, Ray Tschirgi was presented with the Council Trophy, which is awarded to the council member with the highest scratch score.

Free Jazz Concerts at Golden Gate

Concerts by four jazz groups have been scheduled for Saturdays in October at the Music Concourse in Golden Gate Park, according to Joseph Caverly, General Manager of the San Francisco Recreation and Park Department.

The two-hour outdoor concerts begin at 1 p.m. and are free. The schedule will occur as follows:

Oct. 6—Bob Meilke of Sacramento with an eight-piece Dixieland group; Oct. 13—Chuck Travis, a former featured tenor saxophonist with the old Jimmy Dorsey Band, and an 18-piece "Big Band"; Oct. — Earl Vann, writer-composer, and an eight-piece jazz band; Oct. 27—Don Piestrup and an 18-piece "Big Band."

The concerts are under the auspices of the Music Trust Fund administered by Local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians, AFL-CIO.

They are the final ones of the 1973 season which began in June.

Testimonial Set For Leo Ryan

A testimonial dinner-dance will be held in honor of U.S. Congressman Leo J. Ryan (South San Francisco, 11th District, California) Oct. 5 at the Peninsula Golf and Country Club, San Mateo.

U.S. Sen. John V. Tunney and House Majority Whip John J. McFall, chairman of the Transportation Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee, will be the principal speakers.

Ryan is a member of the Subcommittee on Asian and Pacific Affairs and the Subcommittee on Foreign Economic Policy of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. He is also a member of the Subcommittee on Conservation and Natural Resources and the Subcommittee on Legal and Monetary Affairs of the House Government Operations Committee.

The Testimonial Dinner Committee is being chaired by William Zappettini Jr. Dance music will be provided by the Johnny Vaughn band.

Tickets can be obtained by calling 345-1631.

Serramonte Gears For Music Season

Serramonte High School's Music Department, under the guidance of Jan Gaynor is gearing itself for another year of performances, service to the community.

The courses offered this semester include concert band, jazz band, wind ensemble, concert choir, beginning and advanced guitar and a harmony and theory class.

Supporting the Serramonte Music Department is a booster group, Music, It Concerns Everyone (MICE). Fund raising is the prime endeavor for this parent-student group. Funds are needed to provide a supplement to district budget allocations to purchase additional instruments for the expanding band, equipment needed for other areas of the music program and for yearly awards to outstanding music students.

The first activity of MICE will be participation in the Serramonte Center Community Bazaar Oct. 13 and 14. Plans are also being formulated to repeat the successful fruitcake sale held last year.

Persons wishing to contribute to the promotion of the music program are asked to call Jan Gaynor at Serramonte High School, 992-9555.

Off. Fish Joins Humane Society

Mrs. Linda Fish has become Officer Fish, license collector, with the Peninsula Humane Society.

Her job is to visit the homes of owners who are delinquent in purchasing licenses for their dogs. Mrs. Fish says she has found owners generally more pleasant than their animals. She and her husband, San Carlos Police Officer Richard Fish, and daughter Tammy, 11, have two dogs and Mrs. Fish has been an obedience trainer with the Belmont Hills Dog Training Club for several years.

Dance Class Scheduled

The Daly City Recreation Department will offer a theatrical dance workshop taught by Miss Janine Grialou.

Instruction will include theater techniques in ballet, tap and jazz.

The ten-week course will be on Thursdays, Sept. 27 - Dec. 6 (No class Nov. 22) at the Westlake Park Clubhouse from 8-10:30 p.m.

The program is designed for students 14 years of age and older. Fee is $12.50 per person.

Students are to wear loose, comfortable clothing, and ladies should wear slacks or leotards. Students must supply their own hard-soled shoes with taps.

Class size is limited and Daly City residents will be given preference. All registration will be on a first-come-first-serve basis.

Retired Persons Slate Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Daly City Area Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons (A.A.R.P.) will be at 2 p.m., Sept. 29, at 1474 Southgate Ave., Daly City.

The speaker this month will be Mary Jo Feney, who will talk on diet and nutrition.

Robbi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Francesconi of South San Francisco. She is an alumna of El Camino High School, and is now employed in Burlingame.

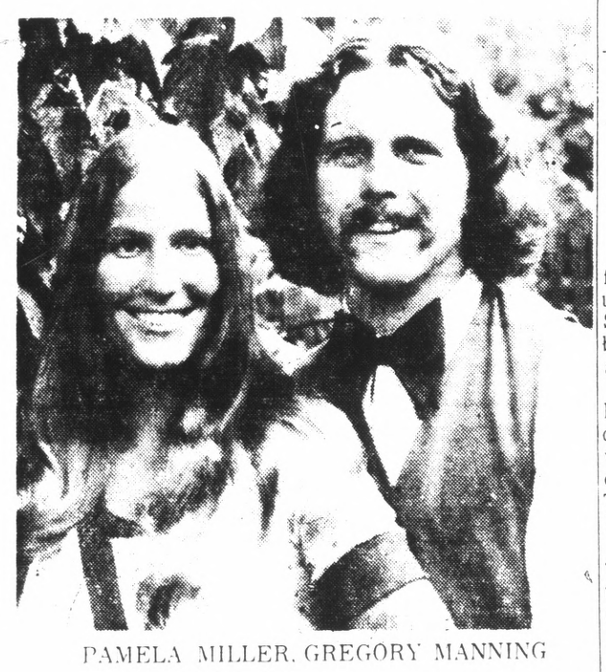
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hollon of South San Francisco are the parents of the bridegroom, who also is an El Camino High School graduate. He earned his associate arts degree at the College of San Mateo and is now serving with the Navy.

Maid of honor for her new sister-in-law was Debbie Hollon, Barbara Meek, Arlene Dobie, Jill Vucinovich and Lou Francesconi were the bridesmaids. Flower girl duties were shared by Lynn Francesconi and Stephanie Murata.

Gary Barton served as the best man, and ushers included Robert Pero, Pete Alexander and Ken Francesconi.

A reception followed at the Machinist Hall in Burlingame.

The bride has two brothers, Al and Ron Francesconi.



PAMELA MILLER, GREGORY MANNING

Wedding Date Announced

An Oct. 13 wedding date has been set by Pamela Jean Miller and Gregory Lewis Manning who plan to be married in Lake County where they met.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller of South San Francisco. She has three sisters. Margie and Barbara Miller and Susan Park of San Bernardino.

Pamela was graduated from South San Francisco High School and California State University at Chico where her fiance also earned his bachelor of arts degree. Before entering UC, he attended schools in Vallejo.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Manning are the prospective bridegroom's parents. Sue, Jeff and Eric Manning are his sister and brothers.

Rosh Hashana Eve Services Tonight

The High Holy Days season for the Jewish community was ushered in with Selihot Services Sept. 22. The New Year 5734 will begin with Rosh Hashana Eve services tonight at 8.

All services at Congregation B'nai Israel in Daly City are conducted by Rabbi Sheldon Edwards and Cantor Jacob Graudenz, who chants the liturgy. They will be assisted by the Religious Committee.

Rabbi Edwards has selected "Yonatan Ha-muzar" as his sermon topic for the evening. Tomorrow morning at 8:30 the First Day of Rosh Hashanah will begin. During the day there will be a Torah service, Shofar service, Mufas service and Tashlich. "What Sacrifice Are You Willing to Make" is the semon topic. The Second Day of Rosh Hashanah will begin at 8 p.m. and the sermon is "Casting Bread Upon the Waters." Earlier that day, at 3:30 p.m. a special children's service has been scheduled.

Friday's services for the Second Day of Rosh Hashano begin at 8:30 a.m. and will be followed by Torah, Shofar and Musaf services. The sermon for the day is "Why a Second Day?".

Sabbath services will be at 8:30 p.m. "We Pause" has been selected by Rabbi Edwards for the sermon.

Sabbath services will continue Saturday morning at 10 a.m. when Rabbi Edwards will deliver "Return, Return, O Israel."

'Miss Ireland' Entries Open

Entries in the eighth annual Miss Ireland contest in San Francisco are open until noon Sept. 28.

The contest is open to all girls of Irish heritage and of ages 18 to 22, with the grand prize an all-expense paid trip to Ireland and $100. Other titles the winner will carry will be Miss Shomrock and Rose of Tralee.

The winner will be chosen at the conclusion of Irish Festival Week Oct. 27 at a grand ball. More information may be obtained by writing the Irish Center, 2123 Market St., San Francisco or calling 621-2200.

Last year's winner was Mary Deirdre Kennedy of Hillsborough, who returned recently frim her trip to Ireland.

So far there have been ten entries reported, including two from San Mateo County -- Ann Daly of Pacifica and Cathleen O'Connell of San Mateo.

Miss Osborne Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd H. Osborn, 55 Windsor Dr., Daly City, have announced the engagement of their daughter Laura Diane to Chris Speros of 7 Westline Dr., Daly City.

Miss Osborn attended Westmoor High School and Skyline College. She has two brothers, Paul and Kent.

Chris, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Speros, attended Westmoor High School and San Francisco State University. He has two brothers, John and Peter, and a sister Teha.

The couple will be married Nov. 24.

THE DAVID HOLLONS (Robbi Francesconi)

Garcia, Muller Married

A honeymoon in San Luis Obispo followed the marriage of Victoria Garcia and Thomas G. Muller which was at Hope Lutheran Church in Colma.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Garcia of Millbrae. She is a Capuchino High School graduate, and has served as an honored queen of Job's Daughters.

Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kai Muller of Anaheim. He attended schools in Iowa and is now employed in Daly City. He and his bride will make their first home in South San Francisco.

For her wedding, Vickie wore a floor-length gown detailed with lace.

Vickie asked Linda Rene DeVaux to be her maid of honor. Wanda Chinevere, he cousin, and Karen Curran and Debbie DeGregoris served as bridesmaids.

Roger Stafford stood with Thomas as best man. Ushers were Ron Muller, his brother, Mike DiPuma and Cliff Johnston.

The new Mrs. Muller is the sister of John E. Garcia Jr., and the granddaughter of Mrs. Dor Liff of South San Francisco and Mrs. J. J. Garcia of San Francisco.

Fall Guitar Program Offered

Good morning, good cooks.

I hope it is a good morning, for as I write this -- a week in advance, the fog is swirling past the windows. If you are reading this with the sun shining into the kitchen, hooray. But if it's foggy, these goodies should brighten your day.

In making this apricot cream pie, you may use whipping cream or substitute a non-dairy whipped topping.

APRICOT CREAM PIE

1 baked pie shell, 9-inch
1 Tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1½ cups strained cooked or canned apricots
½ cup apricot juice
one-third cup sugar
2 Tablespoons lemon juice
dash of salt
8 ounces whipping cream

Soak the one tablespoon gelatin in the fourth cup cold water. Strain or beat the apricots in the blender to make 1½ cups. (A No. 2½ size can halved apricots, reserving 5 whole apricots for decoration.) In medium saucepan combine the strained apricots, one-half cup apricot juice, one-third cup sugar, two tablespoons lemon juice, dash of salt and heat. Stir in the softened gelatin and stir over heat until dissolved. Chill until this mixture is very thick. Whip cream. Fold three-fourths of cream into apricots. Fill pie shell. Decorate the top of pie with remaining whipped cream, and cut the reserved apricot halves into petals to form flowers.

APRICOT COOKIES

2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon each soda, salt, nutmeg, cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup shortening
½ cup brown sugar
An egg
1 cup applesauce
1 cup raisin bran flakes
1 cup quick-cooking oatmeal
½ cup nuts

Sift two cups flour, one-half teaspoon each soda, salt, nutmeg and cloves, one teaspoon cinnamon and one-half cup granulated sugar into mixing bowl. Add the one-half cup each shortening and brown sugar, one egg and one cup applesauce. Beat until smooth. Fold in the one cup each raisin bran flakes and oatmeal and the half cup nuts.

Drop by heaping teaspoonsful onto lightly greased baking sheets. Bake 375-degrees 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about five dozen cookies. If you wish you may sprinkle with powdered sugar or dip tops into a thin decorator's frosting.

CORRECTION:

In last week's recipe for Pat's Green Chili Bake, the correct amount of green chiles needed is one (1) 4 oz. can.

PAT'S GREEN CHILES BAKE

6 slices bread, buttered
2 cups grated Cheddar cheese
2 cups grated Monterey Jack cheese
1 4-oz. can chopped green chiles
6 eggs, beaten
2 cups milk
salt and pepper to taste
½ teaspoon each dry mustard and oregano
¼ teaspoon garlic salt

Butter the six slices bread. Place, buttered side down, in 9x13-inch baking dish. Topwith d rained 4-oz. can of chiles and two cups each grated cheddar and Jack cheese. Combine the six beaten eggs, two cups milk, salt and pepper, one-eighth teaspoon each dry mustard and oregano and fourth teaspoon garlic salt and pour over top. Cover and refrigerate for four hours. Bake in 325-degree oven for 50 minutes.

Serves 6.

Aurilios Live in Pacifica

Pacifica is the first address for Steven Leonard Aurilio and his bride, the former Kristin Lee Wickham, who were married at Grace United Presbyterian Church in Daly City.

The Rev. John F. Dufty conducted the rites for the daughter of Mrs. Marian Wickham of Colma and Walter Wickham of San Francisco, and the son of Mrs. Catherine Aurilio of Daly City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown detailed with Alencon lace and had embroidered seed pearls. Apricot organza Empire gowns were chosen by members of her bridal party.

Kathleen Wickham was the attendant for her sister. Secondary attendants were Marilyn Berto, Zena Gross, Lee Ann Abe and Karen Koshaba.

Wendell Barnes of Colma stood with Steve as best man. Ushers were Paul Tomasello, Chuck Morales, David Parsons and Ron Davis.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Hawaii.

Kris is a graduate of Westmoor High School and Skyline College. Her husband is an alumnus of Jefferson High School and the College of San Mateo.

Scholarship Competition

The California State Scholarship and Loan Commission has announced opening of the competition for the 1974-75 State Graduate Fellowship Program with the distribution of applications to every California college, graduate school and professional school.

State Graduate Fellowships are for tuition and fees at California graduate or professional schools and are designed to assist in the development of the talents of able students in graduate and professional education.

Some 250 fellowships are available to students who will be in their first or second year of graduate or professional school beginning September 1, 1974.

Time's afleeting! If you plan to attend the Country Fair sponsored by the North Peninsula Auxiliary for the Florence Crittenden Services it is now or never for reservations.

MRS. EDWARD MACKLIN, 1 Village Lane, Colma, and Mrs. Arthur Colman, 10 Fallkirk Lane, Hillsborough, are the ladies to whom you send your checks and ticket orders for the luncheon, wine tasting, fair and auction this Saturday.

Mrs. Richard McClain, president of the auxiliary, emphasized that the social hall at Hope Lutheran Church in Daly City seats only 200 persons so the number of tickets is limited.

THE DAY'S FUN will begin with a wine tasting at 11 a.m. followed by the luncheon. Following the noon meal fair booths, manned by auxiliary members, will offer a variety of games and boutique items.

Mrs. McClain will turn auctioneer for a few minutes and auction some fabulous collector's items, including an original 1906 high chair and many items from her personal collection of antique clothing.

TICKETS to the luncheon are $2.50 per person. At approximately 1:30 p.m. the fair will be opened to the general public at no charge.

Decorations for the fair have been designed and created by Mrs. McRobert Stewart, decorations chairman.

THE MARY'S HELP HOSPITAL GUILD will have a luncheon meeting Friday in the hospital solarium, according to Mrs. Jerry Stringer, publicity chairman for the guild.

The day's activities will begin at 10:30 with a tray favors workshop presided over by Mrs. Paul Hupf. Luncheon will be at 12:30 p.m. with the businesss meeting to follow.

HIGH ON THE DAY'S LIST of favorite subjects will be Mary's Help Hospital Day at Serramonte Shopping Center. The annual undertaking is scheduled for Oct. 4 from 9:30 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Major attraction for the day will be a luncheon and fashion show at the Ranch Inn. Clothes from a variety of Serramonte dress shops and department stores will be featured. Modeling will be by members of the guild, doctors' wives and hospital employes.

MRS. FRANK FALCONI is the luncheon chairman and will supply information about the event and sell tickets to anyone interested in attending the 12:30 p.m. program. Her phone number is 755-8368.

Mrs. Dario Baciocco is in charge of the investments and has announced guests can win an eight-day vacation for two in Hawaii, courtesy of Roos-Atkins; a Montgomery Ward freezer filled with groceries from OFT; an Admiral portable TV set from Macy's or one of three $50 gift certificates from McDonald's.

Seating capacity at the Inn is limited and those wishing to attend are requested to call for reservations immediately to avoid disappointments.

THE URSULINE PATENTS GUILD has a fun-filled evening planned for Oct. 13, according to Mrs. Edward Alvers, the publicity chairman.

Dining and dancing will be the order of the day with no-host cocktails to launch the evening at 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium, 4056 Mission Street. A roast beef dinner will be served at 8 p.m. Dancing will be to the music of Big Line Vig and his Hydrant Jumpers.

Tickets are on sale and Mrs. Edward Rose, 585-5850 and Mrs. Joseph Shasky, 585-2032, will fill orders at $6 per person.

Mrs. Alvers stressed that October 9 will be the last day for reservations.

ST. PETER'S CATHOLIC CHURCH is celebrating its 95th year during 1973 and the men and women who have been a part of a few of those years — while they studied at St. Peter's Boys' School and Girls' school — are celebrating the anniversary with a reunion dinner October 13 at Sabella's Restaurant on Fisherman's Wharf.

Mrs. Frank Burns, publicity chairman for the reunion, reported that the theme will be "Cabaret" and a quartet of St. Peter's grads will sing the songs from that Broadway and film hit. Blending their voices in the medley will be Bill Bourne of the San Francisco district attorney's office; Warren Jenkins, chief probation officer for San Francisco County, and firemen Jim Bogue and Evan Jenkins.

Dancing will be to Maury Wolohan's music.

Reservations are available from Mrs. Ethel Lagger 282-8502, or Mrs. Dorothy Burns, 756-2144. Tickets are $9 per person.

FALL IS A GOOD TIME for reunions and Mrs. Diane Wilson Johnson, 77 Ross Way, Brisbane, is attempting to notify all 1958 graduates of Balboa High School in San Francisco of a class reunion to be October 20 at the Elks Lodge in San Mateo.

Those wishing to attend this 15-year reunion are asked to write Mrs. Johnson or call Paula Preston, 333-7736 for more information and reservations.

Sequoia Reunion

Sequoia High School class of 1958 is planning its 15-year reunion for Oct. 27 at Rickey's Hyatt House in Palo Alto, with dancing to the Johnny Vaughn Orchestra.

Information and reservations may be had by calling Mrs. Richard Molina, 6 Bolton Place, Menlo Park, 325-4334.

Jubilee Celebration Held

Fifty years of continued and successful service to church and community was acknowledged Saturday during the Golden Jubilee celebration of the San Francisco Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women.

National Council of Catholic Women was created to unite Catholic organizations of women and individual Catholic women in purpose, direction and action in religious, social, educational and charitable endeavors; to assist the affiliated organizations and individuals through publications, field services, correspondence, institutes and national conventions; and to provide national and international representation and voice for Catholic women in the United States.

The San Mateo County Council began its programs of actions under the gavel of the late Mrs. John A. Boyd, sister of the later "Gentleman Jim" Corbett, heavyweight champion. Second president was the late Elinor Falvey who also held the office of Archdiocesan president and served as a national director. She was also a consultant during the formation of the United Nations in San Francisco.

Mrs. O. C. Moroney of Burlingame, a charter member at the time of the formation of the San Francisco ACCW, was the next president. Mrs. George Kelly, whose husband was recently installed in baseball's Hall of Fame, served as president in 1941.

Other county presidents were Mesdames William Maher, San Bruno; William Morton and Joseph Sechser, Burlingame; Stephen Visitica, Hillsborough; Ruth Donohoe, Palo Alto; John R. McQuaid and Norman Jennings, San Carlos; Joseph Britschgi, Redwood City; Stephen Ehret, Belmont; and John Loretz, John Murray and Walter Gillogley, San Mateo. Mrs. Leno Freschet of San Mateo was recently installed to serve for the next two years.

NCCW programs are promoted by five national commissions working with counterparts on the diocesan, deanery and local levels. The commissions are Church Communities, Family Affairs, Community Affairs, International Affairs and Organization Services.

In 1966, one of the major undertakings of the San Mateo Council Community Affairs Commission was to join together with the Council of United Church Women and the Council of Jewish Women to set up and operate a Family Care Center in Menlo Park, providing constructive care for small children of women who wanted to take vocational training. It was one of the first successful ecumenical endeavors in the county. Mrs. Joseph Britschgi, one of the original directors, is still serving in that capacity for the center, which is now funded through United Bay Area Crusade.

Under International Affairs Commission, affiliates are encouraged to promote some charitable project. Mrs. Frank Kmak of the Peninsula, International Affairs Commission chairman in 1970, appealed to the community for help for Vietnam war orphans. The community responded and a large shipment of clothing and small toys, crutches and money was shipped to Vietnam.

The major problem currently San Mateo CC members, through the Family Affairs Commission, is "right to life," through such groups as United for Life, Pro-Life and Birthright.

The Rev. J. Norman Allen, pastor of St. Timothy's Church in San Mateo, is local moderator.

The Golden Jubilee celebration opened with the annual convention, commencing at 9:15 a.m. at St. Mary's Cathedral.

THE REV. Norman Allen, moderator for the San Mateo County Council of Catholic Women, is pictured with Mrs. O. C. Moroney, left, third president of the group; Mrs. Stephen Ehret, second from right, and Mrs. Joseph Sechser, also past presidents. They participated in Saturday's golden jubilee celebration of the San Francisco Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women.

Topic for the panel presentation during the morning session was "The Christian Looks at Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness." Panelists and their topics were the Rev. Joseph J. Farraher, S.J., academic dean at St. Patrick's Seminary (The Right to Life and the Right to Die); Raymond P. Gauer, director of Citizens for Decent Literature (Pornography — Liberty vs. License); and Monsignor Timothy O'Brien, Archdiocesan Director of Catholic Charities (Poverty and Happiness).

Luncheon speaker was Margaret Mealey, executive director of the National Council of Catholic Women and the National Council of Catholic Laity. She discussed "For the Life of the World: People Caring — NCCW and NCCL Today."

Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken was the principal speaker at a banquet that evening in the Gold Room of the Fairmont.

The Papal Medal Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice was bestowed on eight diocesan women during the convention. San Mateo County women honored were Mesdames J. Sechser, J. McQuaid and W. Gillogley, who all served as San Mateo CC presidents and San Francisco Archdiocesan Council presidents (Gloria Gillogley is current president).

Daly City Host Lions Club Plans White Cane Days

The Daly City Host Lions Club will hold its annual White Cane Days drive proclaimed by Mayor Anthony A. Giammona Oct. 12, 13 and 14.

Lions Club president, Jack Guisto, said donations collected during the drive are returned to citizens of the local community who suffer from partial vision defects, or from blindness.

Specifically, funds held pay for eye examinations and eye glasses for needy school children, and braille books, large-print books and books recorded onto cassette tapes, and tape players, for the Daly City Library Blind Program.

The Lions Club has purchased seeing-eye dogs, sponsored a mobile vision clinic in Daly City, and participated in the Lions Eye Foundation which provides a free clinic to needy persons requiring eye surgery or other treatment.

Club members will be soliciting donations at the Bank of America branches, Mission St. and San Jose Ave., Westlake Shopping Center and at Colma, all day Oct. 12. They will also have a booth at Lucky Market on San Pedro Road, and at Skyline Market at Skyline Plaza Oct. 12. The club will be at Serramonte Shopping Center Oct. 13 and 14.

Business Bureau Questions, Answers

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

QUESTION: Is it true that I can get the name and address of a post office box holder.

ANSWER: Yes, if the box is used for business practices. Like all other facets of business activity, most business users of post office boxes are legitimate, reliable companies. Many firms use a box number for convenience or for receiving large volumes of mail.

QUESTION: I bought a set of tools at an automobile store. When I got home I found that I could not use them. The store refused to refund my money.

ANSWER: Even some businessmen who aren't retailers, forget that a sale is a contract, and that a contract cannot be broken except with the permission of both parties. When you take merchandise back to the seller, you are asking him to cancel, void or change the terms of the contract — and he usually has the right to decide whether he will do so or not.

Generally, a seller will do one of three things, depending upon his policy toward customers (1) He'll say that all sales are finl. (2) Or he may give refunds, credits, exchanges or return deposits. In the latter case, the store grants these prerogatives as "privileges" rather than legal obligations. The BBB advises you to determine the policy of the store if there is any chance you may have to return the merchandise.

A SET OF MAPS showing bicycle routes in the Bay Area is now available from the San Francisco office of the Department of Transportation District 4. Geared to use by bicyclists, the maps are on an 8 1-2 by-11-inch format and can be folded. Rather than just indicating prohibited areas, they show as many reasonable alternate routes as possible. The maps were put together by the district with the help of the League of American Wheelmen, who described roadways currently being used by bicyclists. Each map generally shows one county. All state highways are marked with symbols that indicate whether or not bicycles are prohibited. Open circles represent possible alternates and filled circles indicate established bike routes, most of which are on local streets. Copies of the maps are available by writing the California Department of Transportation, District 4, P.O. Box 3366, Rincon Annex, San Francisco 94119.

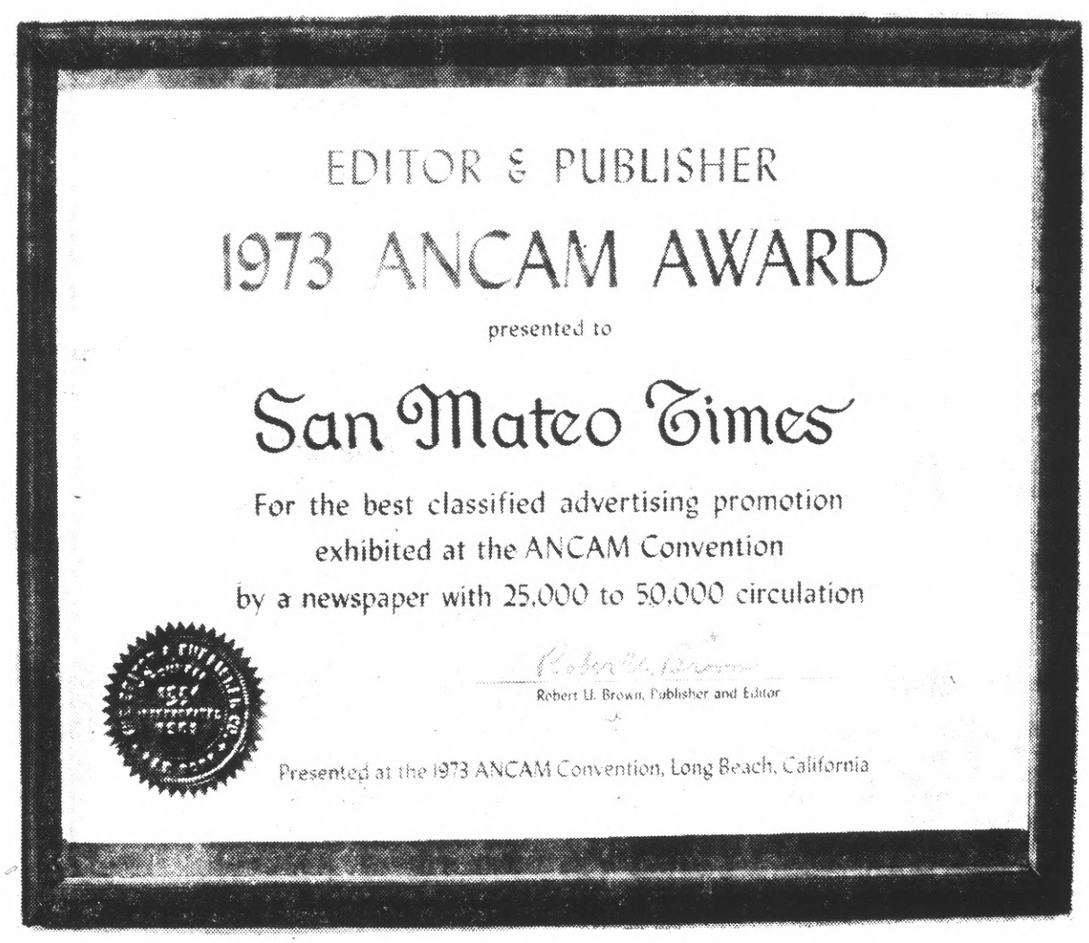
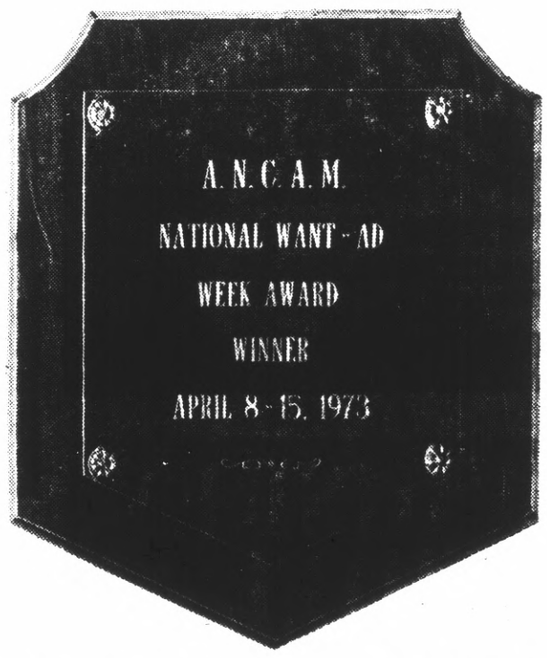
IN CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING PROMOTION IN EDITOR & PUBLISHER'S 1973 INTERNATIONAL COMPETITION

The Times and Post Classified Advertising Department won the First Place Award for Overall Classified Advertising Promotion in Editor & Publisher's 1973 International Competition for newspapers with a circulation between 25,000 and 50,000. The Promotion Program included editorial, research and promotional material. One of the highlights of the year, was a High School Ad Writing Contest sponsored by the San Mateo-Burlingame Board of Realtors and co-sponsored by The Times. Students from every high school in San Mateo and Burlingame participated. Prizes were awarded totaling $550.



The Times receives Award of Excellence for the promotion of International Want Ad Week!

The Times Classified Advertising Department was also honored in the same Editor & Publisher 1973 International Competition for their promotion of International Want Ad Week. The International Want Ad Exhibits included full page promotions featuring models (courtesy of the Emporium) visiting foreign countries. The theme "Want Ads—A World of Results" was tied in with a Travel Directory and a "Find Your Name Contest" directed to subscribers. A total of $300 in classified advertising was awarded to Times subscribers who found their name in the classified section.



The Times and Post Classified Advertising Department has now won 14 First Place Awards in various competitions in the past 14 years.

"Ronnie" Lehr's Oils Decorate the Steakery

Those beautiful oil paintings that decorate the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco are by Veronica "Ronnie" Lehr, vivacious and talented wife of owner Phil Lehr . . . He is the "Prince of the Pizza" — he is Enrico Romano, who owns and operates Romano's Italian restaurant, Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. This master of the small, medium or large has dedicated his professional existence in the kitchen to the art of preparing the very finest of linguica, pepperoni or you name it . . . Prior to every home game, R. C. Owens, the former 49er great, will be on hand to chat with fans at the Holiday Inn, South San Francisco, enjoying brunch and taking the buses to Candlestick Park. Bus tickets are still available for the 49ers home opener with the Rams. Ample free parking at the Holiday Inn . . . What could be more convenient for fans of the turf than a restaurant catering to hearty appetites and located at the "gateway to Bay Meadows" — meaning the Silver Dragon on Twenty-fifth Avenue, of course. Chinese food is the forte, but an American menu is also available . . . The fashionable Iron Horse, one of San Francisco's most recommended restaurants, offers an impressive wine list to complement their Continental cuisine. The intimate cocktail lounge is a favorite rendezvous spot for many guys and gals from the Financial District and those taking in the nearby theaters.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Pine Brook Inn Newest Peninsula Restaurant

The charming Pine Brook Inn, located in Carlmont Village Shopping Center, Belmont, is the newest restaurant to rise on the Peninsula skyline. Owned by Klaus Zander and George Battha, and open since Saturday last, the restaurant is already doing a land-office business. The entire interior of the restaurant (formerly Carito's, and a few years ago, the Charm Garden), is completely remodeled. The end result is an informal country setting, surrounded by lush greenery. Klaus, a chef of national repute, has numerous culinary awards to his credit. Luncheon is served Mondays through Saturdays; dinners every night of the week. On Sundays an old-fashioned Sunday brunch is featured from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Also an intimate cocktail lounge . . . Chuck's Steak House, in Borel Square, will soon add Prime Ribs of Beef to the menu. At least, that's the latest word from the restaurant's owners, who have been considering the idea for several weeks.

DUAL ROLE — Lehr's Greenhouse Restaurant and Florist, in San Francisco, is The City's only fine restaurant with a full-time florist right on the premises. Kenny Lum prepares beautiful corsages and floral arrangements for guests while they enjoy luncheon, dinner or Sunday Ramos Fizz Brunch. Owner Murray Lehr (pictured) has a very special price for patrons who buy a corsage for that gal in their life, too.

ALL IN THE FAMILY — Vi Stange and her daughter Dianne Mileham have been serving stacks of pancakes, omelets and sirloin tips together for one year at the 24-hour Ken's House of Pancakes in Millbrae. If one is ill, the other works for her. "I never know which one will show up for work," says Manager Charley Nafe.

Club Owners Lose 100 Chicken Dinners Golfing

Reno and Julio Donati, the two fun-lovin' brothers who co-own the New Southern bistro in South San Francisco, are back from participating in a three-day golf tournament in Reno with a sad tale of woe. The tournament included a bit of good natured ribbing and outrageous wagering. Between the two restaurateurs, they lost 100 chicken dinners . . . Franklin Mieuli, San Francisco Warrior owner, was a recent luncheon guest at the Castaway, an exotic Polynesian hideaway at Coyote Point. Mieuli was hosting a large group of media people prior to the opening of the basketball season this year . . . A magnificent new buffet table has been added in the Gold Coast Room at Holiday Inn, Belmont. Personally designed by General Manager Joe De Dio, the buffet set-up will be on display tonight when the "Festa Italiana" is again the Friday feature. It is also a perfect setting for the Sunday Brunch, with an array of brunch-type items being attractively displayed . . . Tios Mexican restaurant, in San Mateo, also has Children's Dinners, which include rice and beans with choice of taco, enchilada or Albondigas. Served with milk or soft drink. Everything on the menu at this "South of the border" restaurant is prepared to go.

"Sleep In" at the Villa Hotel

The well-favored Villa Hotel holds the answer to any "sleep in," dine out, or banquet occasion. You will be wise to plan your next party at this San Mateo hotel, which has long been one of the Peninsula's leading resort-like retreats. Special attention is given to weddings, receptions, anniversary celebrations, and business meetings. The Villa Coffee House is a popular stop for the early-morning stock and bond lads. The atmosphere is as relaxing as a five-point jump in their favorite stock. The Charlie Blackwell Trio continues to play for dancing evenings from 9 p.m. in the Villa Lounge . . . Fresh Filet of Sole Amandine (sauteed, pan fried and served with slivered almonds and lemon butter sauce) and Hangtown Fried Oysters are two seafood suggestions served at The Franciscan restaurant, on Fisherman's Wharf. Daily specials from the Broiler are Half Capon with Rice Pilaf (a special wine and herb marinade makes this broiled capon a delicacy) and Veal Scaloppini Saute Marsala served with ravioli and a tantalizing Italian sauce. Jumbo Shrimp Saute Marsala is a dining feature here . . . Both luncheon and dinner is served at the new Beardsley's restaurant in Burlingame (Formerly Bob's on Broadway). The unique decor highlights several drawings of Aubrey Beardsley, the noted English artist. You'll also find quite a crowd gathered around the pianobar for a rousing good time in the evenings.

George 'n' Teddy Held Over

George 'n' Teddy, the fantastic duo drawing big crowds to Whiskey Hill in downtown Burlingame, have been held over for at least one more week. Bistro owner Pete Brallier says that a remodeling of the club is next on the agenda. Besides a new dance floor, complete kitchen facilities will be added. Look for after-hours entertainment to soon to be an attraction here . . . It's "Jackpot time" at the Palo Alto Shirt Tail restaurant and cocktail lounge, with "Dapper" Dodd Baker at the piano bar, and a restaurant menu that defies comparison. Wait until you head Dodd's rendition of the "Tiger Rag." He plays it like he had four hands. If anyone would like to contest as to fast playing, your Bright Lighter will buy the dinner if they can top "Dapper's speed. This would be a "don't miss performance" . . . Frank and Fannie Torres, who have been operating Torres Beach restaurant in Montara these many years, continue to offer their South American house specialties, such as Chili Relleno. The Torres are famed through the state for their superb recipes with that South-of-the Border flavor.

Pat Montclair's Mae West Bit Finocchio Hit

The amazing interpretation of the fabulous Mae West by statuesque Pat Montclair is a great performance in the Finocchio's revue. The movements and mannerisms, and the vocal inflections are all there, topped off by a spectacular wardrobe in the Mae West style, and all handmade by Pat himself . . . South Lake Tahoe is where the fun is — and Park Avenue Tours is making it easy for you to enjoy this fun by offering two "Drive-up" packages every day of the week. Each offers a generous bonus refund. Park Avenue Tours also features Overnighters, via Greyhound Bus, for one-night stay (Wednesday), two-night stay (Friday and Saturday), and a one-night stay on Saturday. The same attractive bonus prevails. Winter rates are now being introduced in the resort areas. So don't put off making plans for "fun the Nevada way" . . . Vince Russo's Distillery in San Bruno is known for its excellent banquet facilities. This unique restaurant provides business and social planners a choice of four different rooms which can accommodate from 20 to 160 persons. The Distillery is also a popular center for local wedding receptions. But the important thing to remember is "get reservations in early."

The Shadows' Staff Faces Seldom Change

It seems restaurants are famous (or notorious) for changing owners, managers and complete crews (and it can happen almost overnight), with the regular patrons being surprised to see all new faces when dining at their favored hours. However, an exception to this can be found at the Shadows in downtown San Mateo, which first opened for business in 1951. Dave Rasmussen was the original owner, and continues to be, and many of his staff have been with him for numerous years. All in all, the whole situation here is rather unique . . . The Flight Time Lounge of the Airport Plaza Hotel, Millbrae, is packed with dancers and fun seekers these evenings. The primary reason being Dynaflow, a San Francisco-based group which performs in the lounge Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights . . . Frank Martinelli is still showcasing entertainment at his Beach House, in San Mateo. Currently pulling big Tuesday through Saturday nights is 151. Don't forget: Polynesian specialties reign supreme at the adjacent Tiki Garden . . . Every Sunday evening, following the 49er home games, a lavish buffet dinner is featured at the Bit of England, in Burlingame. Co-owner Charlie McFadden also provides buses to Candlestick Park. The round-trip fare is $2.50.

Captain Charles, New Gourmet Restaurant

Forty-six years ago Stelios Karagianis (better known as Charlie Gust to fishermen and visitors to the coast of Pacifica) opened a small place of business at Rockaway Beach where they could buy sandwiches, candy, and peanuts. Today, Charlie Gust's dreams and endeavors are much in evidence as three outstanding restaurants, Nick's, The Moonraker, and the newly-opened Captain Charles, carry on his tradition of gracious hospitality and the utmost in fine dining. Captain Charles, a gourmet restaurant and cocktail lounge, is now open Wednesdays through Sundays, 4 p.m. to midnight, and offers an impressive selection of seafood, which is helpfully grouped under general and classified headings. The various fish are excellent however prepared, and portions are generous. Visible through picture windows, and just a stroll away, is the water's edge, where seagulls strut and pelicans swoop to pounce upon their nautical prey. Among the dining first-nighters from San Mateo were Millie and Tom Saville, who had raves for the Lobster Thermidor (in a fine sauce, served in a shell). Because dishes are prepared in a different Continental manner, fifteen minutes should be allowed for their preparation.

THE WESTLAKE Catholic Men and Women's Clubs will celebrate Columbus Day Oct. 12 with an Italian night, "Night in Capri." Plans are being completed for the celebration by, left to right, Mrs. Ted Carey, Mrs. Jack Loughran, Chairman Peter Balestrieri and Mrs. Donald Gianfermo. A hot buffet will be served at midnight and dancing will be to the music of Michael Corino. Reservations are $6 a couple and can be made by calling Mrs. John Kachur at 992-0279.

Papan's Bill On Drug Pushers

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan (D-San Mateo County) announced recently he is co-authoring AB 2669 by Assemblyman Ray Gonazles (D-Kern County) providing mandatory life sentences for first offense felony convictions for the sale of narcotics.

Papan said AB 2669 is modeled after legislation recently enacted in New York.

"Governor Nelson Rockefeller has announced that heroin and heroin pushers are on the decrease since the New York law went into effect earlier this year.

"California leads the nation in the number of those who profit from the misery of others through the crime of narcotics peddling. Once a person, usually in their younger years, becomes physically and psychologically dependent on drugs, he or she is then also dependent for life upon sellers or suppliers. The youthful addict will commit all types of crimes simply to find money to pay for his habit.

Pacifica Rec. Programs Begin

Open Gym Basketball program sponsored by the Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department began on Monday night, Sept. 24 at Oceana High School from 7 to 10 p.m.

Fee for the program is: adults, $3; high school, $2, and guests, 50 cents

Adult volleyball program conducted by the Pacifica Recreation Department will be on Tuesday nights in the Terra Nova gym from 7 to 10 p.m. Fee for the program for the year is $3.

The after school sports program for boys and girls in the seventh and eighth grades co-sponsored by the Recreation Department and the Laguna Salada School District, is under way. Sign-ups for the program are being taken at the following facilities: Sharp Park School, Linda Mar School, Pacific Heights School, San Andreas School and Fairmont School.

The boys will sign up for football and the girls will sign up for softball. League games will start Oct. 1.

For details call the Recreation Department at 355-4151 Ext. 33.

Jail Terms Issued In SSF Lumber Theft

Three men who had been arrested in South San Francisco three months ago when an officer grew suspicious of their driving with a load of lumber in their Cadillac hearse at 1:15 a.m., were sentenced Thursday on charges of larceny.

According to court aides, Municipal Judge Charles Becker sentenced Clay L. Huckins and Michael V. Fredson to identical sentences of 10 days in county jail, suspended, with six months summary probation and 60 hours of public work service The third man, John P. Pino, was sentenced to six months in county jail, with all but 12 days suspended, and six months summary probation.

According to the police report, the officer asked them where they got their lumber, and was told it came from South San Francisco Lumber Co., some two blocks away. In view of the hour, police investigated the case.

Coast Teacher Helps the Retarded

By JACK BIK

"By the time my students graduate, they are — in effectf — not retarded. They can take care of themselves and support themselves as well as the average person."

Thus spoke Phyllis Hoops, who teaches the special education class of Oceana High School. The class serves all the mentally retarded children of Pacifica and West San Bruno, including those children who would otherwise attend Pacifica's other high school, Terra Nova.

Mrs. Hoops has taught special education in Oceana for 10 years — and is the only one who has taught these children on the high school level in Pacifica. Her class has won numerous honors and awards over the years, for innovative imagination and success in its objectives.

The class enrollment has been as high as 25. This year it has received only one new student, for a total of 10 students.

"I know tyhart there are more children in Pacifica who can benefit by this class," she observed, "whose parents may not be aware of it."

One student in her class had sat home for three years, she reported, because her parents had been told that he could learn nothing in school. He had been a problem in discipline and it appeared to be impossible to teach him anything.

Yet, the boy is now fully participating in the class as well as other activities at Oceana High School, and appears to be well on his way to becoming a useful, normal member of society.

Mrs. Hoops expressed hope that everyone in Pacifica, or who lived west of Skyline, who either had or knew of a child kept at home, because of supposed retardation, would get in touch with her.

"Under state law, they can come here until they are 21," she said.

"Constant counseling" is how Mrs. Hoops described her initial contact with these students.

Her students learn all the "normal" subjects, but these students learn them at their own speed. They can all read and write, as well as do arithmetic. Mrs. Hoops gears these basic skills to the practicalities of day-to-day living and holding down a job. Her room includes a scale and a cash register, and the students can all make their own change. These subjects also include a good deal of consumer education.

She teaches world affairs, science and other courses which give the students an idea of the world about them. Having just returned from a visit to Romania, she is able to give them a first-hand knowledge of the world. They are currently studying Russia.

"You have to teach them in a way that they would feel that they are almost there," she observed.

In addition, these students take part in Oceana's regular physical education classes, plus one elective, consisting of such courses as art, music and shop.

A great deal of initial emphasis is placed upon personal grooming, to give the students a feeling of self-worth.

Special grooming classes are given the students by representatives from modeling agencies. Also stressed are politeness and grammar.

Before leaving the room, every boy looks into a small mirror by the door and combs his hair. The room also contains a beautician's chair equipped with dryer.

All this is geared to getting and holding a job.

The idea that every student can get a job and become self-supporting — and that everything they learn in class will help them to get that job — acts as a powerful motivating force to the students.

Several students already have part-time jobs. Students work for the city, in the corporation yard, park department and fire department. Other students work for such private businesses as McDonald's Hamburgers and the Radio Shack.

To help them learn valuable work habits, Mrs. Hoops has the students punch a time clock as they enter class.

"They make excellent workers," Mrs. Hoops observed. "Their absenteeism is virtually nil, and they are very reliable."

Some of her former students work for such firms as the Bank of America and the Municipal Railroad, where one graduate drives a bus for approximately $1200 a month.

Several former students have gotten jobs as barbers on Army bases after she worked with the then state assemblyman, Leo Ryan, in cerating a strictly oral test for barbers who work on federal and state property.

Others work for the school as custodians or cafeteria workers.

The National Association for Retarded Children, she notes, will pay half the salary for on-the-job training for one of her students, for a 16-week period. If the job does not work out, the association will pay for a second 16-week training period for another job, based on a $1.65 an hour pay.

Students are also willing to work on a volunteer basis, on some jobs, in order to learn.

One of the most innovative job training programs for these students is a greenhouse which she obtained through a federal grant a few years ago.

"There are 75 greenhouses located between San Francisco and Pescadero," she pointed out.

In addition, providing students with a chance to grow things was a valuable experience for these students, she felt.

They are also getting photographic training, she added.

Mrs. Hoops had the experience of being sent to Washington, D.C., in 1971 as a candidate for the Kennedy Foundation award.

Besides degrees in English and history, Mrs. Hoops has two master's degrees.

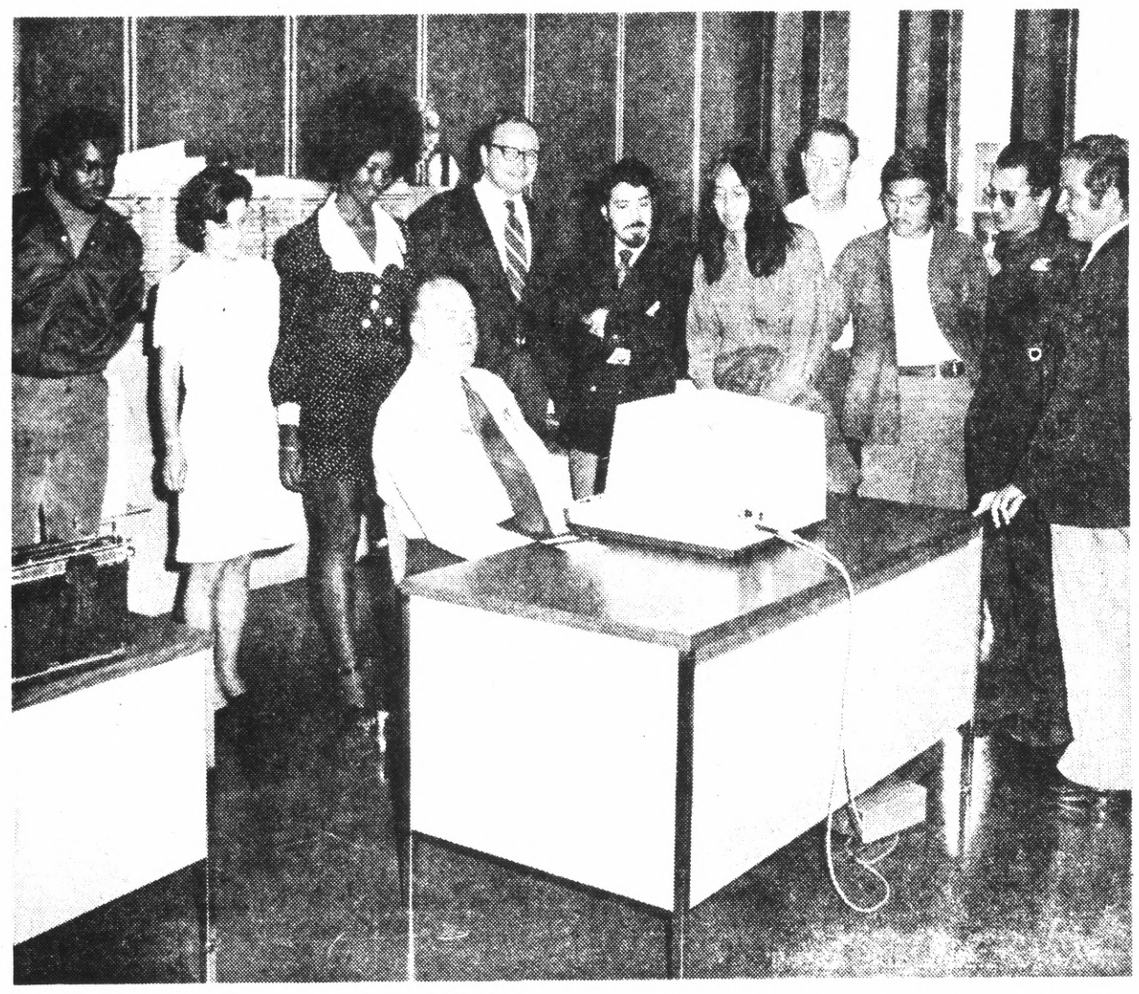
Daly City Hiring Program

Affirmative Action Trainees Report



AFFIRMATIVE ACTION employees and councilmen observing the Daly City Finance Department Computer Terminal are, left to right, Michael Simmons, engineering aide trainee, engineering division; Helen Flowerday, account clerk trainee, finance department; Yolande Keys, typist clerk trainee, personnel office; Victor G. Kyriakis, mayor pro tempore; Jose Aguilar, administrative trainee, city manager's office; Peter Marcos, custodian trainee, maintenance division; McRobert L. Stewart, councilman; Mike Hara, utility man trainee, public works electrical div.; Ricardo Quezada, garage serviceman trainee, motor vehicle division; Mayor Anthony A. Giammona. Seated is Michael Moon, assistant director of finance.

The City of Daly City adopted an Affirmative Action hiring program several months ago following several public hearings on the proposed program before the Personnel Board and the City Council.

The goal of the program was to open up employment opportunities to more minority and disadvantaged citizens of Daly City through a special employment effort funded locally.

All of the City's Affirmative Action Trainees have now reported for work, completing an extensive recruiting program. More than 600 applications were received for the eight openings. All eight employees hired reside in Daly City and will work in a special "on-the-job" training program in various departments for a period not to exceed 18 months.

It is anticipated that during the training period these employees will have an opportunity to compete for a permanent Civil Service position by qualifying through passing regular examination procedures and meeting regular standards.

The program is locally funded and is intended to provide members of minority groups and disadvantaged non-minorities an opportunity to receive vocational training through the city without having to initially pass standard Civil Service written examinations. The screening process included review of applications and appearance before an oral interview panel.

Periwinkle Gallery Exhibits Acrylics, Oils, Macrame

An unusual collection of acrylics, oils, gouache and macrame usclptures by Mary Harris and Donna Waldren is now on exhibit at Periwinkle Art Gallery, Pedro Point, Pacifica.

Pacifica resident Mary Harris studied art with Basil Marros, Richmond, at Marin Jr. College, San Francisco State University, UC Berkeley. She also studied at Kachsiumg Medical College, Kachsiumg, Taiwan, in Sasebo, Japan, at the Academie Grande Chaumiere, Ville de Paris Cours Superieur Paris, at the Friends Center, San Francisco and the San Francisco Museum of Art.

Ms. Harris had a one woman show at Galerie Jean Camion, Paris in 1968.

She has been a kindergarten teacher in the Laguna Salada School District for seven years. For the past two years she had been co-chairperson of the local chapter of the American Federation of Teachers. She has also been active with the Democratic Party in Pacifica. In addition to her interest in painting and other forms of art, Ms. Harris is studying guitar and the Japanese Koto and will soon begin teaching Koto in Pacifica.

Former Pacifica resident Donna Waldren majored in art and tutored with Ned Stern, West Virginia. She has entered competitive shows in the Bay Area in which she won three first place awards. These shows include the San Francisco Art Festival, San Mateo Fair and the Pacifica Art Guild.

Ms. Waldren lives in Petaluma with husband Chuck and five children. For three years the Waldrens have opened their home to foster children.

She has been working this past year on a 6-ft. by 8-ft. macrame hanging which is mounted on plexi-glass.

This show will run through Oct. 13. Gallery hours on Tuesday-Friday, 12 to 6 p.m. Saturday, 10 to 5 p.m. Sunday, 12 to 5 p.m. The gallery is closed Mondays.

Daly City Amendments

stiff raking over the coals by opponents of redevelopment.

At one point Rev. Hosey Spears said the letter of the law was perhaps being followed. "But somewhere along the line we have misconceived the spirit of the law.

"If we can't change the state law (dealing with redevelopment) maybe we ought to change some councilmen," Spears said.

The plan is an "interim plan" and will require much input from concerned citizens. Kyriakis reiterated several times during the session.

At one point, Kyriakis asked City Atty. Polonsky if there was any reason why public input would not be solicited.

Polonsky answered, "I see no reason why they can't (submit their ideas)."

It was expected to take at eight to 12 months to complete a final plan concerning redevelopment, it was explained.

The proposed amendments cover nine separate, but interrelated elements of the general plan, including land use, circulation, housing (as amended), conservation, open space, seismic safety, scenic highway, noise and safety.

"Decision-making immersed in and recognizant of variable plans," the preamble to the will better serve the ends of a 'democratic society' when based on significant and realizable social and political persuasions amendments states.

Disagreeing with this philosophy, Pavellas, waving a copy of the Declaration of Independence, said, "Some of our people (in the ODCPA) are reviewing the basic freedoms they think they should have in this United States of America."

Teachers OK Smaller Raises

South San Francisco teachers have voted to take a smaller pay increase so that their colleagues who teach fourth, fifth and sixth grades can get time out for class preparation.

The teachers' negotiators had originally demanded both the pay increase and the class prep time. As negotiations wound up, however, they were given the choice of providing the cost of the intermediate prep time from the $429.300 appropriated for their pay increases. It amounted to a choice between a 4.25 and a 4.65 per cent pay increase.

Barbara Olds, chairman of the Certified Employe Council, last week advised the school district trustees that the California Teachers Association Representative Council had ratified the offer made by the board to the teachers on Aug. 6:

1. Appropriate $389.300 for higher salaries. (4.25 per cent.)

2. Appropriate $40.000 for employing eight teachers for the second semester of the 1973-74 school year, in order to permit a prep period.

3. Increase fringe benefits from $43.50 to $55 per month.

The eight additional teachers, who will teach specialized subjects such as music and art, will be spread among the 14 elementary schools of the district.

Altogether, the trustees approved a 5 per cent increase in the district's teacher salary and fringe benefit costs.

The trustees also approved a half-dozen policies which had been agreed upon at meet-and-confer sessions with the teacher representatives. They included:

—The premium on a $5000 group life insurance policy for each employe shall be contributed by the district.

—The district shall contribute toward a Kaiser or Blue Cross Health Plan for each employe who wants it, as well as a group dental plan.

—Days allowed for sick leave may be used for leaves of personal necessity, to a maximum of six days a year. The employe would need prior approval of the superintendent's office, except in cases of death or illness of a member of his immediate family, or accidents in the family.

—Teachers will be given greater voice in selection of their department heads. Previously, chairmen appointed by the principal chairmen were appointed by the principal alone. Now, the teachers will submit three nominees to the principal from which he must choose.

—All teachers shall be given written notice of their salary placements and verification of their class, subject and building assignments as soon as practicable, normally by July 1.

—Kindergartens shall maintain a district average class size of 30.

—Grades 1-6 shall maintain an average district class size of 26.7.

—A divisor of 26 shall be used to compute 7th and 8th grade classes, and a divisor of 24 shall be used for 9-12th grade class sizes.

The average English class size shall be 26 minimum and 32 maximum.

In other business, the trustees recommended Edward R. Rodondi for state appointment to the Personnel Commission.

They also:

—Approved a course title change at El Camino High School from "Speech" to "Speech-Communications," — reflecting widened scope of the course.

—Approved 32 interdistrict attendance agreements to children to attend schools in South San Francisco, and for two children to attend schools in other districts.

—Granted permission to baseball coach Bob Brian to attend the 1973 meeting of the National Federation Baseball Rules Committee in Elgin, Ill., Oct. 9 and 10. Brian represents all northern California high school baseball coaches.

Honor Court Held; Scouts Awarded

Boy Scout Troop No. 84 of Daly City held a Court of Honor eSpt. 21 at Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, where recognition was given to boys who earned a total of 24 skill awards. Presentation of 18 merit badges was made.

Most of the work in earning the awards was done by the boys when the Green and Gold spent a week camping out at Camp Cutter.

Other presentations and promotions were: Tenderfoot Investiture: Bobby Whatley, Alex Johnson, James Trapani, Vincent Venezia and Rick Shapiro; Totem Chip: Phillip Uribe, Kris Gustafson, Harry Dutton, Mark Ostergard, Bobby Whatley, Alan Knox, Vincent Venezia, Randy Fox and James Trapani; First Class Promotion: Mark Schneider and Eddie Conlan; Star Promotion: Greg Leong, Brian Oxenham and Mark Konstan; and Patrol Leaders Warrant: Eric Saujord, Senior Patrol Leader, Brian Oxenham, Asst. Senior Patrol Leader, Peter Pattis, Patrol Leader and Mark Konstan, Patrol Leader.

Highlight of the ceremonies came when Assistant District Commissioner George Swain presented an Eagle Bronze Palm to Eagle Scout Tony Valoria. In addition Valoria was promoted to Asst. Jr. Scoutmaster where he becomes Scoutmaster Peter Konstan's assistant.

Garden Club To Hold Meet

The Daly City Garden Club will hold its monthly meeting Oct. 2 at 8 p.m. in the Coral Room of the War Memorial Community Center, 144 Hillside Blvd.

Program for the meeting will be a lecture and slides of the World Garden Club, an affiliation of CARE. The speaker will be Mrs. Evans, Chairman of the World Garden Club.

Truck Overturns in Pacifica; Burl. Driver Escapes Injury

The driver of a runaway truck and his unidentified passenger escaped injury about noon Wednesday when the vehicle raced down Fassler Ave. toward the Coast Highway in Pacifica and turned over on its side.

Firemen responding to the scene said cargo had spilled onto the highway and that about 18 gallons of gasoline from a ruptured gas tank was inside the truck.

Escaping uninjured was Bob Davenport, of 1515 Bernal Ave., Burlingame, driving a truck belonging to Royal Acoustic. His passenger, who also was unhurt, was not identified.

Officials said the truck apparently blew a wheel-brake cylinder and Davenport in attempting to get the vehicle into a lower gear instead found that the transmission was locked in neutral.

"Luckily," said one fireman, "there were no cars on that usually busy highway."

'Perspective' Talk at Skyline

Ray Bradbury, one of the world's leading writers of science-fiction and fantasy, will lecture on "The Cosmic Perspective" at Skyline College Oct. 3 at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium. General admission is $2, $1 for students.

He is author of such films as "Fahrenheit 451" and "The Illustrated Mas." Bradbury has a reputation for spellbinding his listeners in his "celebration of the mystery and magnificence of the whole thing."

Groundbreaking Set at Knoll

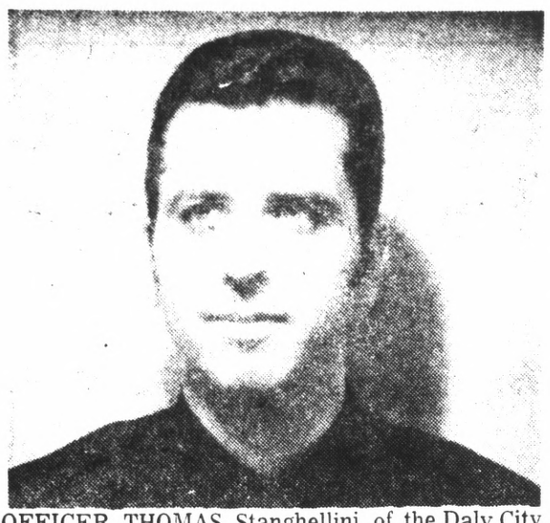
An invitation to participate in public ceremonies breaking ground for the first-phase development of the Knoll at Coyote Point Park was extended San Mateo County citizens by Robert St. Clair, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors.

"We are about to embark on a development that is going to bring a host of new recreation activities to Coyote Point, and we would like the public to join us on this happy occasion," St. Clair said.

Three dedication events are scheduled today starting with the main 2 p.m. ceremony in the upper Park area, to be followed by a reception at the Commodore House at 2:30 p.m.

At 3:30 p.m. a brief boat christening will take place at the Harbormaster's dock at the marina. Mrs. Robert Petticlerc of Redwood City will break a bottle of champagne over the bow of the County's new harbor patrol boat, the "William M. Werder."

At the earlier 2 p.m. dedication, a first header board will be installed for a new bicycle trail that will eventually connect all present portions of the park: knoll, marina, beach and park entrance area.



OFFICER THOMAS Stanghellini of the Daly City Police Dept. will be the guest speaker at the Oct. 2 meeting of the Westlake Catholic Men's Club. The meeting will be in the parish hall of Our Lady of Mercy at 8 p.m. Stanghellini will speak on narcotics and police problems in the area. Visual aids will be shown along with a question and answer period. An invitation has been extended to all men of the parish.

Jefferson Plan Results in Big Savings for Taxpayers

A new plan by acting superintendent Keith Breon of the Jefferson Elementary School District has resulted in a substantial savings to taxpayers for insurance coverage within the district, it was revealed Wednesday.

Breon said the idea of going to bid on insurance coverage in the district, instead of awarding it on the same basis as in previous years, is believed to have resulted in savings amounting to thousands of dollars.

Wednesday, the Board, with trustee Edward Tomasello absent, voted to accept the low bid of Mort Levinson, representing the Insurance Company of North America.

Levinson had submitted two bids: one with $1,000 deductible for $5 million liability coverage (premium $29,853 annually), and the other for $5,000 deductible for $5 million liability coverage with an annual premium of $28,512.

The Board accepted the $1,000 deductible package.

Last year cost of coverage for the district amounted to some $55,000, Breo said.

He allowed that "it is, however, our understanding that rates have gone down throughout the insurance industry."

Trustee James Cranna said in doing business with Levinson in the past he had found the company to be "a very reputable and very concerned insurance broker."

In other business Wednesday, the trustees:

Agreed to set up a joint meeting with the district's Personnel Commission to discuss the hiring, salary and job description of the proposed Assistant Superintendent for Business post — a post that Roger Barthuli was released from by the board majority some three months ago.

Appointed Carol Powers on a temporary basis to replace resigned Food Service Director Mary Bost.

Agreed to require all personnel travelling to conferences on taxpayers' money to report, either in person or writing, events of their trip and any useful knowledge gleaned during the trip that may be of use to district personnel.

Northwest Equity Corp. Rents Cabot Forbes Space

Northwest Equity Corporation, a land development company, has purchased 8.5 acres on Kauffman Court in the Cabot, Cabot & Forbes South San Francisco Office-Industrial Park.

The firm will build two special office-warehouse buildings on the rail-served site, according to Dinesh Maniar, president of Northwest Equity.

The first of the buildings, in what will be called Kauffman Court Center, will cover 158,748 sq. ft. The second building will be 45,855 sq. ft. in size. A total of 44,133 sq. ft. within the property will be devoted to landscaping. Parking spaces will be provided for 147 cars.

The buildings are planned to house between four and five tenants, according to Maniar. They will open for occupancy in January 1974.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. will provide permanent financing and the construction loan was made by Western Mortgage Co.

SSF Is Set To Do Hiring

The old saying, "There's always room on top," has taken on a new meaning in South San Francisco, as its councilmen get ready to hire several department heads.

Meanwhile, the city appeared to be running smoothly, with most major departments, outside of fire, police and library, operating with "acting directors."

At least five of the vacant positions have a Sept. 30 deadline for applications: city manager, city engineer, zoning administrator, park and recreation director and administrative assistant.

Unlike most local cities, in which the city manager hires department heads, the City Council in South San Francisco will do the hiring.

The current situation has come about through a combination of circumstances, beginning with the engineering firm VTN being given a contract to operate a number of city departments, followed by a death on the council and a special election.

ALREADY, some 50 applications have been received for the post of city manager.

A strong contender for the city manager could be the acting city manager, Ed Alario, the permanent finance director. Alario has been with the city about a year. An affable, business-like man, he has computerized the finance department, worked out a new kind of city budget — a program budget — and led the city through a tough period of labor negotiation.

He took over a city whose organization was left in shambles, first by mid-term resignation of the VTN engineering firm, and then by the resignation of City Manager Gale Dreisbach.

Alario says he has not sent in an application for the post; he does not say that he will not apply, however.

UNDER ALARIO'S plan, the Department of Ecological Development, which had been operated by VTN, was scrapped and the Parks and Recreation Department was given full departmental status again.

A new umbrella department was formed, the Public Services Department. This department will include engineering, building, street and sewers, treatment plant, planning and zoning.

Planning, once an independent department, becomes two divisions of the PSD, with a zoning administrator position created.

Sept. 17, the City Council adopted job descriptions of four new positions being created in part by the reorganizations, as well as by resignations. These posts include the zoning administrator, the city planner, communications supervisor and the administrative assistant.

The Council has adopted the description of the city engineer's post, but left it general enough so it could appoint either a city engineer or a director of the public services. Both positions would pay the same.

OF ALL THE city vacancies, the lack of a city engineer seems to be hurting South San Francisco the most. The VTN's Fred Hull, who formerly acted as city engineer, still is performing work for the city on a consulting basis. However, the amount of routine work held up by lack of a registered civil engineer, ready to take care of day to day problems, appears to be piling up.

Before VTN, South San Francisco had several engineers.

Currently, the planning office is operated by a private consultant, Neal Martin, who comes from Belmont on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, plus every other Tuesday night for a Planning Commission meeting. Acting assistant city planner, Amin Surendra, runs the office on a day-to-day basis. An associate of Martin works an additional 20 hours a week in South San Francisco.

The future communications supervisor will head a new department of 10 persons, combining the police, fire and public works dispatching offices, so that one emergency number will take care of "everything" in South San Francisco.

The new administrative assistant would have primary responsibility for personnel.

ACTING Parks and Recreation director Dick Milkovich would appear to be a strong contender for the permanent P&R post. Milkovich was assistant recreation superintendent in and more recently headed the department in Sunnyvale.

The new director will have many challenges to meet as a result of a series of studies during the past year — from building a new recreation center and enlarging the Coyote Point marina to keeping down the pay of impatient swimming pool personnel and recreation teachers until the pay in neighboring cities catch up.

Of the various top posts, only that of the chief building inspector will be filled by Civil Service. However, the Personnel Commission will be holding a closed promotional examination, leaving only two eligible candidates — old-timers Roy Ghilardi and Austin Lynch.

HS Students To Explore Health Field

San Mateo County Office of Education's Vocational Education Division, in cooperation with Sequoia Hospital, will present a two-way minicourse "Exploration of Health Careers" Oct. 16 and 19.

The free course is open to all county high school students. Transportation will be provided from each high school. Registration forms are available from all county high school counselare are available from all county high school counseling offices. Registration is on a first come first served basis and deadline for acceptance is October 1.

The course is to enable high school students to study the job opportunities, educational programs, application procedures, financial aids, etc., related to the health field.

The first meeting is designed to give an overview of the opportunities available so students can select which areas are of interest to them. They will explore their selected areas at the second meeting.

Counseling related to student choices will be offered. Tours, an introductory presentation, small group and individual conferences also are included in the program.

Beth Israel Slates Memorial Service

A special Beth Israel-Judea Memorial Service will be held in the Garden Court of Salem Memorial Park, Colma, Sept. 30, at 1:30 p.m.

The service will be broadcast throughout the entire Park. Officiating at the service will be Rabbi Herbert Morris, Rabbi Elliot M. Burstein, Emeritus and Cantor Salo Blumenthal.

Members of the community whose loved ones are interred at the Salem Memorial Park as well as members of the congregation are invited to attend.

Beth Israel-Judea Annual Variety Show is now in rehearsal. The show is slated for two performances in December. Members of the congregation and friends who are interested in participating may contact Fred or Ursula Angress at 333-8053 or 333-9069 to offer their assistance.

The Brotherhood of Congregation Beth Israel-Judea performs a unique service for Succot. They will donate and erect a Succah at the home of Temple members requesting one. After the Succah has been decorated with greens, fruits and vegetables, Rabbi Herbert Morris will visit and recite the various blessings with the family.

Scouts Begin 'Round-up'

Dr. Robert Alvarez, South San Francisco, is spearheading the local roundup program for the San Mateo County Boy Scouts.

According to Dr. Alvarez, 950 boys are expected to join a scouting unit during the fall.

Currently 1552 boys are active in 69 units.

This year's theme is "First in Space." All registered boys and adults by Dec. 15, will have their name launched into space aboard missile "Scout" during Scout month in February.

Cub Scout packs will host a Cub Night for Scouting Oct. 11, while Scout Troops will conduct Troop Rally Nights at a regular troop meeting.

For Today's Woman

By Carol Drake
Food Consultant

Here's a potpourri of handy hints . . . some new, some old . . . but many can prove helpful to new homemakers:

Rinse egg, milk or flour dishes with cold water for an easier cleaning job.

Line bottoms of vegetable crispers with Truly Fine paper towels to absorb moisture and help keep the containers clean.

Be sure to let avocados ripen until they are soft to enjoy them at peak flavor.

Let a roast set for about 15 minutes after cooking for easier carving.

Cut cupcakes in half, frost centers with icing or jam and put back together . . . for lunch bags or home snacking.

For a protein-rich breakfast, serve fried eggs on slices of hot leftover beef.

Cook delicious Safeway bacon strips until crisp . . . then crumble and add to waffle batter.

Ice six layers and sides of Busy Baker Vanilla Wafers with whipped cream. If desired, decorate the "icing" with shredded coconut and top with a maraschino cherry. Refrigerate these little "cakes" overnight before serving.

WE'VE FOUND A WAY TO SAVE 2½ MILLION TREES PER YEAR!

Empty cartons and other used paper in our stores were once considered waste material. But for some 15 years now, we've been saving, compressing, and shipping this paper for recycling. The paper used in this way saves about 2½ million trees from being cut down each year. It also eliminates some 150,000 tons from our country's annual accumulation of solid waste.

Connie McGuirk Selected Gem, Mineral Show Queen

Connie McGuirk, has been chosen as queen of the Daly City Rockhounds 9th Annual Gem and Mineral Show to be Oct. 27 and 28 at the War Memorial Building.

Her escort, Bob Pickerrell Jr., will assist Miss McGuirk throughout the show hours by directing visitors and guests to the various exhibits and features of the show, and answering questions concerning this popular family hobby.

Of interest to the general public, as well as rockhounds, will be "Doc" Albee's original oil paintings combining fine arts with rockhound overtones. New equipment and the latest in diamond-bond materials will also be demonstrated. Dealers will display their exhibits and supply their newest acquisitions of rough rock, cut stones, findings, slab and specimens for the hobbyist at reasonable prices.

Bob Pickerrell, president of the club, said: "This is going to be our best show yet," and added, "we will have some of the finest exhibits obtainable, and there will be something for all rockhounds, whatever their specialty."

Showtime hours will be 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. October 27; 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Oct. 28. Admission is by donation of 75 cents; children unedr 12 are admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Details may be secured by calling Russ Brosamle, show chairman, at 564-3112.

New Fire House Discussed

Pacifica city councilmen Sept. 18 zeroed in on the need for a new Linda Mar firehouse.

They were meeting to consider the recommendation of the Capital Improvements Committee for a $14,413,500 bond issue and $1,763,550 worth of other needed projects which could be financed without the need for bonds. The committee had screened these from a list of needed improvements totaling $26.6 million, plus others recommended by citizens.

Councilmen made no decisions on the bond issue or other recommendations. They asked the staff to bring in further refinements in figures and breakdowns in costs and further information on the various funds available for financing projects. They set a joint meeting with the Capital Improvements Committee for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 3, at a place to be decided.

Asst. Fire Chief Robert Bingham reported that the present Linda Mar firehouse is over 20 years old, predating the city's present equipment. Precious life-saving seconds are lost when firemen must move first aid equipment from the fire house to the rescue truck, which cannot be parked inside for lack of space. Bingham said. The city already owns a site at White Field next to the Sanchez Adobe.

Councilmen discussed financing the firehouse from federal revenue-sharing funds, now toting about $200,000. The city mrtusep sn eta pal nofr must present a plan for spending these funds to the federal government by December.

The capital improvements committee, which gave the project "urgent priority," recommended financing it over a five-year period at the rate of $80,000

Councilmen discussed whether a number of small projects or to lump them together to produce one major project. These kinds of problems hopefully will be resolved at the Oct. 3 meeting.

Children's Drama Class Available

Signups for the fall-winter drama workshop for children, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department for persons 10 to 14 years of age, are being taken.

Under the instruction of Ron Wells, children will learn basic stage movement, oral interpretation, voice projection, make-up and stage crafts. The cast and crew will prepare a full-length production during the eight-week course.

The class will be held on Saturdays from Oct. 13-Dec. 8 at Thomas Edison School from 1-4 p.m. Twelve to 15 boys and girls will be selected to participate in the workshop.

There is a $3 materials fee for the workshop, and parents of selected students must complete and sign an official registration form.

Bids Opened For 280 Exit Improvement

The California Department of Transportation has opened bids on a San Mateo County project. Contracts will be awarded by the Department after verification of bids.

Improving exit ramps on southbound Interstate 280 in and near Daly City. To allow more lane-maneuvering time, directional signs to exit ramps and to the Interstate 280-Route 1 interchange will be moved to overhead positions, providing greater visibility for motorists.

Work will also include removing three existing signs in the median and between the freeway and its exit ramps, to lessen chances of out-of-control vehicles colliding with them.

Two bids have been received. Low bidder is Steiny and Company Inc., San Francisco, $59.795.00.

Queen Contest In Broadmoor

Broadmoor queen contest entries are open until Oct. 1.

Any Broadmoor girl who will be 14 to 18 years old on or before that date is eligible to enter. The queen and her court will be chosen Oct. 5 to reign over Broadmoor's 25th anniversary parade and carnival at the Community Center October 13.

Girls wishing to enter should send name, address, phone number and age to Broadmoor Queen Contest, 755-87th St., Colma 94015.

The parade committee also is accepting applications for the parade, which can be floats, or decorated 10-speed bicycles and children in costume. Awards will be given. Entries may be sent to Broadmoor Parade Chairman, 501-87th St., Colma 94015.

Scouts Take Monthly Hike

Boy Scouts in San Mateo County are taking advantage of some of the finest hiking trails in the Bay Area through a program called Hike of the Month. Each month a different district in the council sponsors a hike somewhere in the Bay Area.

Bill Feig of Redwood City, Council Hike of the Month chairman, said the Sequoia District will sponsor the October hike at Sam McDonald Park. The hikes are the third Saturday of each month.

Cheese Dishes to Substitute for Meat

Shortages and soaring meat prices are forcing homemakers to seek other protein-rich foods to replace meat in their family meals.

Of the variety of high-protein food substitutes available, cheese is one of the more popular.

"Cheese provides the same high-quality protein as meat and supplies all the essential amino acids necessary for growth and repair of body cells," said Sara Cina, nutrition consultant with Dairy Council of California. "It also takes less cheese than meat to satisfy a hungry family," she said.

Nutritionists say that two ounces of cheese provide a full serving of protein. It also contains calcium, the B vitamins and vitamin A.

Combining cheese with other foods such as macaroni, noodles, vegetables, rice or fondue is convenient.

QUICHE LORRAINE

1 unbaked, 9-inch pastry shell, chilled
6 slices bacon
1½ cups natural Swiss cheese, shredded
3 eggs
1½ cups half and half, scalded
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Do not pierce pie shell before filling. Cut bacon into small pieces and cook slowly until brown and crisp. Drain well. Spread bacon and cheese evenly over bottom of pie shell. Beat eggs, add milk and seasonings, then slowly pour into pie shell. Bake at 400 for 10 minutes then reduce heat to 300 and bake approximately 30 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Allow pie to stand 5-10 minutes before serving. Serve warm. Makes 6 servings.

TOASTY CHEESE BUNS

3 cups or 12 ounces process Cheddar cheese, shredded
2/3 cup ripe olives, chopped
¼ cup onion, finely chopped
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
½ cup salad dressing
6 hamburger buns

Combine the filling ingredients. Lightly toast the bun halves. Spread about ¼ cup filling on each half. Broil about 4 inches from the heat until the cheese melts, about 4 minutes. Do not overcook as cheese will toughen and scorch. Makes 6 servings of 2 bun halves each. Toasted bread may be used in place of buns.

CHEESE RAREBIT

3 cups or 12 ounces process Cheddar cheese, shredded
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons pimiento, chopped, or
¼ cup stuffed green olives, sliced
toast

Combine cheese, milk, Worcestershire sauce and dry mustard. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until cheese melts. Add a small amount to the beaten egg, and return all to saucepan to cook a minute or so longer. Stir in pimiento or olives. Serve immediately over toast. For an extra treat, top with crisp bacon. Makes 6 — ½ cup servings.

CHEESE PUFF WITH SPANISH SAUCE

12 slices bread, well buttered
½ lb. Cheddar cheese, grated
6 eggs, beaten
1 quart milk
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
salt and pepper

Trim crusts from bread and save for crumbs. Cut bread into one-inch cubes. Spread 1/3 of the bread cubes in bottom of a well-buttered, 3-quart casserole. Sprinkle with half the cheese. Top with another 1/3 of the bread cubes, the remaining cheese, and finish with the last layer of bread.

Combine eggs, milk and seasonings. Pour over bread. Allow to stand in the refrigerator an hour or longer before baking. Bake at 375 for 40-50 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Serve immediately while puffy with Spanish Sauce. Makes 6 servings (this can also be baked in individual casseroles).

SPANISH SAUCE

4 cup green pepper, diced
1 small onion, chopped
2 tablespoons butter
1 (1 lb.) can tomatoes
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water
salt and pepper to taste
1 4 ounce can sliced mushrooms (optional)

Cook green pepper and onions in butter until soft, but not brown. Add the tomatoes, break up any large pieces. Simmer for 5 minutes. Stir in the cornstarch which has been blended with cold water. Stir into hot mixture and cook until clear and thickened. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Makes about 2 cups.

Alcoholics Deficient In Vitamins

Nutritional deficiencies are common in alcoholics. We don't know whether it's because of the toxicity of the alcohol itself, poor eating habits, or a combination of both.

Doctors studying a group of heavy drinkers at New York's Metropolitan Hospital Center were recently surprised when they found half of the alcoholics, aged 22 to 69 years old, weren't getting enough vitamin B-2, also called riboflavin. Ribflavin is important in the maintenance of healthy skin and eyes.

Multiple nutrient deficiencies are common to most alcoholics. However, vitamin B-2 had never been known to be one of those deficiencies, and the alcoholics didn't display any of the usual symptoms. Normally, people short on vitamin B-2 suffer from chronic sore throats, swollen red tongues, cracked skin at the corners of their mouths, and anemia. Such deficiencies have been detected in a number of Americans, children and adults, not consuming alcohol but eating poorly.

Vitamin B-2 is found in many common foods, such as milk and dairy foods, liver, yeast, eggs and a variety of peas and beans. Milk alone supplies about 45 per cent of the B-2 eaten by Americans.

In the case of these alcoholics, doctors brought their levels of B-2 up to normal in less than a week by giving them five milligram vitamin supplements. Normally men need less than two milligrams a day, while women require 1.5 milligrams daily.

It is estimated that there are more than 9 million alcoholics in this country, nearly one out of 20 persons. There is no question that persons consuming large amounts of alcoholic beverages for extended periods must be especially careful to eat a well-balanced diet with all the nutrients if they want to stay healthy. Alcohol in high levels is one of the most toxic foods common to man.

Green Salad With Curry

Try this green salad with its unusual dressing.

GREEN SALAD WITH CURRY DRESSING

½ head lettuce
2 cups fresh spinach
2 tomatoes
3 scallions
6 radishes, sliced

Dressing

¾ cup oil
¼ cup vinegar
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 clove garlic, minced
Salt and pepper to taste

Tear lettuce and spinach into pieces and place in a salad bowl. Cut tomatoes in wedges. Slice scallions including tos and add, along with tomatoes, to the salad greens. Combine dressing ingredients thoroughly. Toss salad with about 1/3 cup salad dressing. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Fresh Figs In Markets

Fresh figs are in abundant supply September and October.

Figs must be fully ripe to be of good quality. Ripe figs are rather soft and vary in color from greenish yellow to purple or almost black, depending on the variety. Over-ripeness is indicated by a sour odor. Avoir bruised or injured fruit.

Figs may be stored in the refrigerator 1 to 2 days.

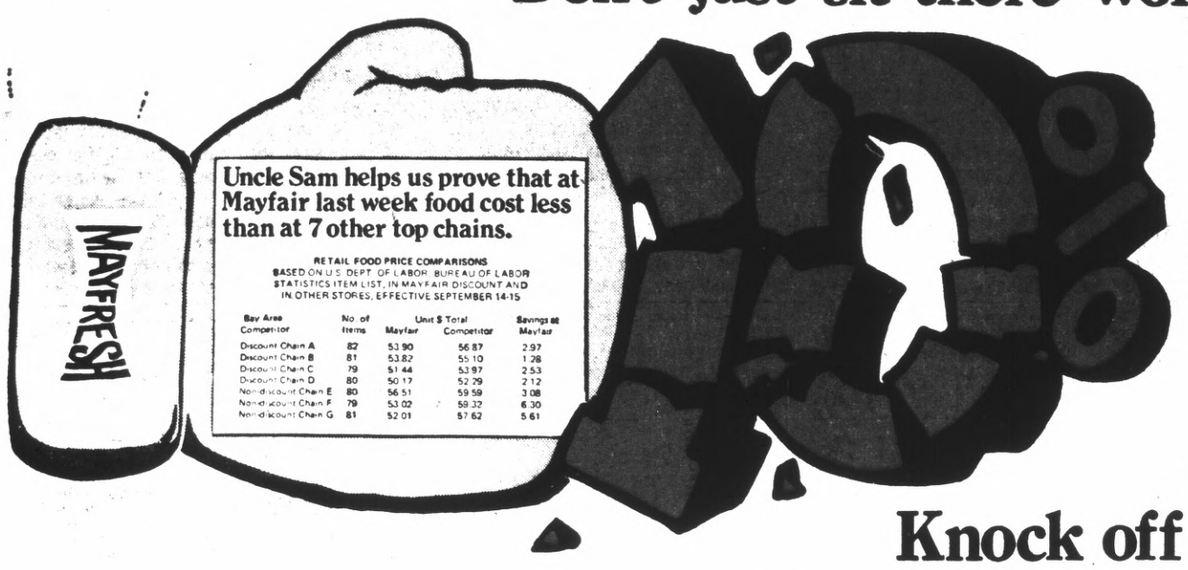
Don't just sit there worrying about inflation...



Fight Back!

Knock off up to 10% on your grocery bill with Mayfresh brands!

Have you heard the government predictions, of sharply higher meat prices? Don't worry. Not now. Because . . . Mayfair has lowered many meat prices. Yes. Mayfair has actually lowered most pork and chicken prices, and has held the line on beef prices. More proof that you save more on food, at Mayfair.

We have about 250 different products in the Mayfresh line and, almost without exception, they cost less than nationally advertised brands.

Sometimes, Mayfresh products, even though they cost less, are actually higher in quality than nationally advertised brands!

For example, Mayfresh frozen vegetables are 100% Grade 'A'. You can't count on that kind of consistent high quality in nationally advertised brands.

You'll find high quality and low cost on every item that bears the Mayfresh brand.

Buying Mayfresh brands is only one of many ways to save on food at Mayfair. In fact, Mayfair prices are so low we are not afraid regularly to compare prices with our competitors -- and publish the results of those price comparisons in our weekly ads!

Switch to Mayfair this week. We're fighting inflation and we need all the help we can get.

Le Pacini

Foxy

My first — as Louella Parsons used to say — exclusive! Fox hunting season begins in the Bay Area at the end of this month or early in October.

THAT'S RIGHT! Fox hunting in the Bay Area — primarily on the Peninsula, to be exact. Much of it is done in Woodside on Stanford property by the Northern California Hunt Club, the only such club in Northern California. (There's one called the West Hills Hunt Club in Southern California, to which many movie stars belong.)

Hunting will go on three times a week throughout the winter and will climax with a hunt in April at Pebble Beach. Woman's Lib, incidentally, will be happy to know that hunts are conducted by mixed sexes — not the foxes (necessarily) or the hounds or the horses (necessarily); the poeple. Ladies and gentlemen chase the foxes as teams.

CONTRARY to popular belief, the foxes in fox hunts — even in Northern California — are rea. There are such things as drag hunts, which are not what you with foul minds are thinking. A drag hunt is when the fox is make-believe. That is, the hounds chase a rag soaked in fox scent. Surprisingly, or perhaps not, the drag hunt is mostly an English practice, while Americans do most of the live hunting.

Fox hunting is not considered by its members to be a cruel sport, or even a drag, but rather a ritual which has its basis inpracticality. Fox hunting originated as a method of getting rid of pests. And besides that it's good conditioning for the people, the horses and the hounds.

THUS FAR, neither the SPCA nor private animal protection groups have protested fox hunting in this area. Foxes are pests and, claim enthusiasts, hunting is a natural way of eliminating them, the alternative being traps or cyanide. Traps produce a slow, agonizing death, cyanide is fairly quick, but, claim hunters, a pack of hounds gets it over with in about ten seconds.

Besides, say the hunters, they're suporting about it. If a fox gives them a good chase, they often let it go.

Which is much nicer than Don Shula was to Dick Nolan.

IF YOU'RE ONE OF those young old-timers who remembers Vic Piccetti, the great young post-war Oakland Acorn first baseman who was killed in that bus crash which wiped out virtually the entire Spokane baseball team, you'll find interesting the following reminiscences by Daly City resident Bud Pellissier, Piccetti's best high school buddy and a former Seals Stadium clubhouse boy.

"I was working the clubhouse for the Padres and had just read in the papers that my best friend, Vic Piccetti, had been killed in that bus crash. So I was sitting in the clubhouse feeling bad and just before the rest of the players arrived, there was a knock on the door.

"I ANSWERED IT and there was a young fella standing there with a suitcase in his hand and he says to me, are you Bud Pellissier? And I said yes and he says, well, my name is Jack Lohrke. The Padres just called me up from Tacoma and I got pulled off that bus just before it crashed. Vic Piccetti's last words to me were that I would see you in the clubhouse at Seals Stadium and that I should say hello for him."

That, of course, was the man who became known as Lucky Lohrke and later made the majors, including service with the Giants.

PELLISSIER IS SURE Piccetti also would have made it and might have become one of the game's greats.

"In 1940, Tony Patch was director at Bernal Playground. He got some tools and wheelbarrows and took 100 of us kids to St. Mary's Park, which at that time was barely a park, having been only roughly graded by the WPA years before. It was nothing but a rock pile.

"We leveled it and built a backstop out of chicken wire. Rugger Ardizoia (the great Commerce High pitcher who later became a star in the Coast League and had a cup of coffee with the Yankees, used to work out with us.

"Piccetti was easily the star of St. Mary's Park. At 15 he could hit a ball 400 feet. And you couldn't throw a ball in the ground at him at first base that he couldn't pickup."

WHATEVER YOU MAY THINK of the trading practices in contemporary professional sports, they'll never match what some of the early-day pro baseball impressarios pulled off.

In those days, for example, ethnic backgrounds were common reasons for trade. Boston, for instance, used to try to acquire Irish players, Cincinnati Germans; and often their names were more important

A Crushing Tackle

KNIGHT STOPPERS Dewey Bohling (43), Barry Ward (67) and Tim O'Neil (right) put the crunch on Terra Nova back Dan Racanelli. The Tigers were held to minus yards rushing.

Togetherness Spurs Victory

By STEVE JOHNSON
Post Correspondent

Capuchino High's football team seemed to lack one thing in particular in the narrow opening loss to Terra Nova two weeks ago.

That ingredient was togetherness, but it was all there Friday at South San Francisco's Clifford Field as the Mustangs beat El Camino, 22-7.

"Our coaching staff worked hard all week to get some togetherness into these guys," said Cap coach Vince Marchi after the game. "We still showed some inconsistence s, but I thought we were all right."

The newly found Mustang frame of mind was much in evidence on the first series of the game. Cap grabbed the opening kickoff and marched 74 in 11 plays behind an effective option offense engineered by quarterback Ralph Costanzo. Bob Warfield squirted over from the three for the capper.

However, a fumble on the next series to end a drive deep into Camino territory seemed to switch some momentum to the Colts, who took the lead in the second quarter on a one-yard scoring run by Mike Evans. Evans had set things up with a 22-yard halfback option pass to Frank Kosta.

With both lines fighting each other to a standstill and nobody able to move the ball, Camino held its 7-6 advantage well into the third quarter.

At this point, Cap's defense held the Colts with no points at its own four after EC had driven to a first and goal at the six. A field goal from the 11 had failed.

Two punts later, 'Tang linebacker Bruce Wynkoop, one of Cap's main stop corps heroes along with linemen Joe Fass and Jeff Kilpatrick, fell on a fumbled punt at the EC 27.

Steve McLeod eventually cracked over from the three and Mike Slotnick wrapped up the win moments later with a 48-yard run with an intercepted pass.

San Mateo Gets Tourney Split

College of San Mateo's water polo team played in the semi-finals of the consolation bracket in the Cabrillo Tournament at Aptos Saturday morning, after splitting its openers Friday.

CSM lost its first match to Modesto, 10-8; even Mark Pecar's four goals weren't enough.

But the Bulldogs came back with a 14-2 drubbing of Fresno. Again it was Carlmont High grads who led the attack — Pecar had three goals and Jeff Citron four. Soph Jim Polk from San Carlos scored five goals in the two games.

NFL Punt Competition Signups

The Daly City Recreation Division and Serramonte Ford are cooperating in the Ford-NFL Punt, Pass and Kick Competition.

Registration is now open at Serramonte Ford, 999 Serramonte Blvd. in Colma; the competition is free. Registration will continue through Sept. 28.

Boys who wish to signup must be accompanied to Serramonte Ford by a parent or guardian in order to complete the signup procedure. Other signup locations are Lincoln Park, Marchbanks Park, Westmoor Park, Westlake Park and the War Memorial Community Center.

Local competition will be in Daly City, with attractive trophies for first, second and third place winners in each age group. Successful competitors can advance to the National Finals in Houston, Tex., at the NFL Super Bowl Game.

Competition will be Sept. 29 at Westlake Park at 10 a.m.

Knights Down Terra Nova

By CHRISTOPHER STAVE
Post Sports Writer

Hillsdale High's football team isn't too spectacular — except for the way it just keeps on winning.

Friday against visiting non-league opponent Terra Nova it didn't seem like the Knights were building up a 269-78 yardage advantage. It didn't seem like they were building up at 13-5 first down advantage, or holding a weakened Tiger rushing game to minus 26 yards.

The only statistic that seemed real was the large zero that illuminated Terra Nova's half of the scoreboard all afternoon, while Hillsdale clicked often enough to put up 21 points.

Neither team was effective on the ground (although Hillsdale, again deceptively, ran up 115 rushing yards), so the decisive battles were fought in the air.

Terra Nova's Dan Racanelli moved over to running back to replace severly-injured mainstay Bill Bender, and Rich Stratful handled the tossing duties.

A big Tiger line gave Stratfull decent protection (especially tackle Rich Motylewski, who did a fine job keeping Hillsdale's 6-3, 195-pound end Al Gorang busy).

But Hillsdale had a rush, spearheaded by tackle Jamie Sibold, and blitzed often enough to destroy the continuity of Terra Nova's attack.

Meanwhile Hillsdale QB Kevin McCoy, seeing that the Tiger front wall wasn't going to be dented easily on the ground, went to an intelligent and effective short passing game, aiming mainly for ends Carl McIntyre and Kevin McWhirter.

The Knights' two second-half TDs came on short runs by chunky Dewey Bohling, the only Hillsdale runner who had

Aragon High Nips Indians

Aragon High's football fortunes have taken an early turnaround from last season's winless disaster, and nobody is happier about it than second-year Don Coach Dick Breaux.

"It's nice to be a little off and still win for a change," said Breaux, whose team whipped Jefferson 12-8 Friday in Daly City. "It's a lot better than looking good and losing like we did sometimes last year."

The win was Aragon's second straight without a loss — the most successful start in five years.

Junior quarterback Jim Chakos and senior receiver Rick Hudnell were Aragon's principal heroes. The pair combined for the first Don TD on a six-yard pass and clicked for over 100 yards passing.

Fullback Steve Hardman scored Aragon's second touchdown with a two-yard smash late in the third quarter. Jefferson got on the board with seconds left in the game on a short keeper by quarterback Dale Edelman.

Don halfback Toni Toti was keyed on by the Indians and held to short yardage, but Chakos' passing and Hardman's running went uncontained. "One of our goals this year was to get more balance," said Breaux. "We're showing some signs of doing that."

Breaux was especially impressed with the play of Chakos. "Weren't at all sure how things would work out with him at first," said Breaux, "but he's done a super job so far. Hes really a hard-nosed guy."

than their ability. There are documented cases of players being swapped for a bird dog, a turkey and for use of a playing fieldin spring training.

WHEN CINCINNATI PITCHER Frank Harper hit Cub manager Frank Chance in the head with a pitched ball. Chance traded for Harper so that he could cut his salary from $4,500 to $1,500, then benched him and eventually forced Harper out of the game.

Owners used to control prices by making deals with each other not to enter in bidding wars when they both were going for the same player.

PLAYERS WERE EVEN loaned out. In 1905 the Boston Nationals were in need of a catcher, so Cincinnati loaned them Gabby Street who caught three games and then returned to the Reds. There was even an instance of a minor league club renting a player to another team. And to top that off, the $50 "raise" the player received from his new club went to the team that hired him out!

BASEBALL STATISTICAL CORNER: For those of you would like to prolong the breakingo f Babe Ruth's career home run record, you might remind yourself that Babe hit 15 World Series homers and one All-Star game home run, which will take the total of "official" homers up to 730. Aaron has hit three in playoffs, three in World Series play, none in the All-Star.

As we mentioned a couple of weeks ago, numbers of base hits and home runs aren't important as long as a team scores runs some way. One f the prime examples of such a team is the A's, who stand only sixth in the AL in batting, fourth in homers, but are just barely behind Kansas City in runs scored.

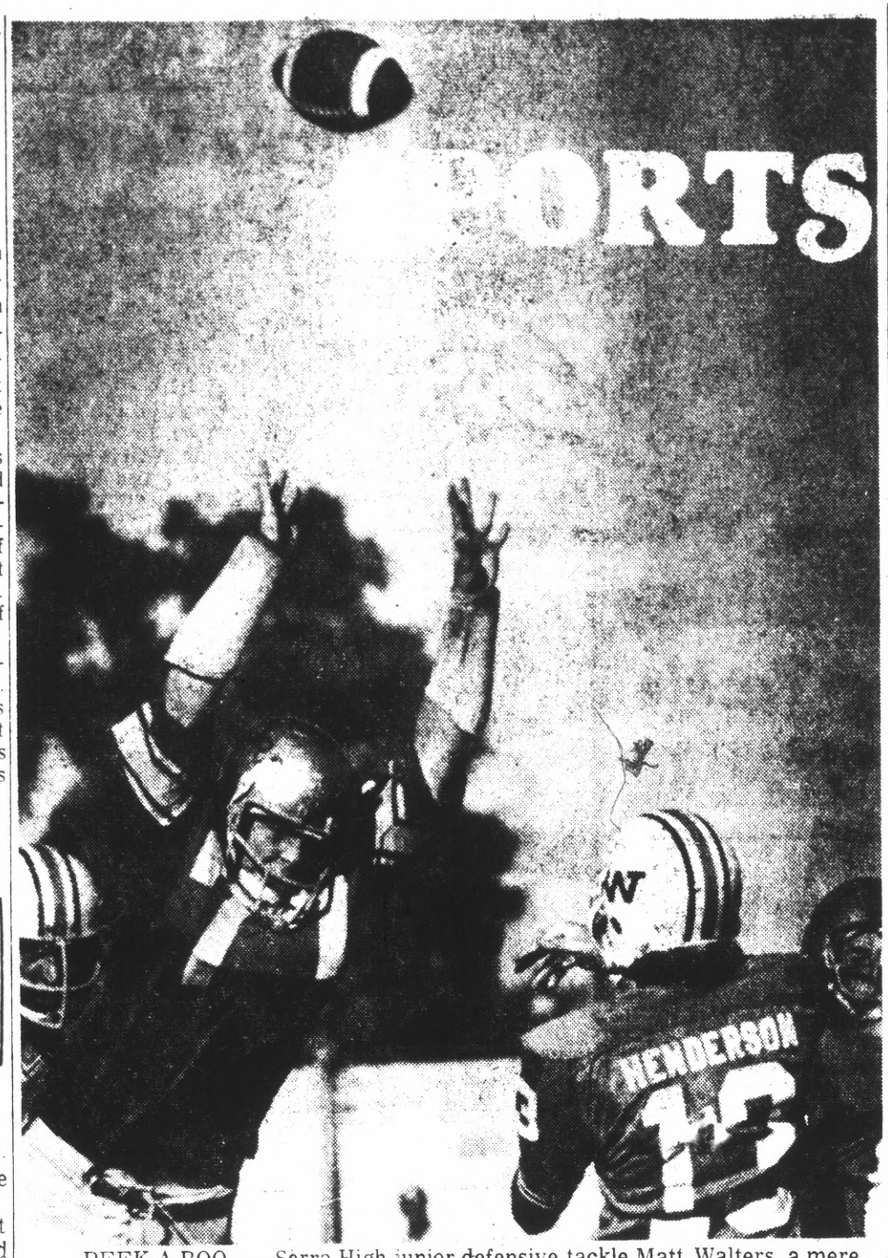
Despite its dismal team batting record, Texas has been shut out less than any team in the majors this year.

FOOTBALL THOUGHTS: Everybody thought the 49ers would use their surplus of quarterbacks to acquire a running back, but they instead used defensive tackle Earl Edwards, which eventually could cause some depth problems at that spot. Will the 49ers now use their surplus of quarterbacks to trade for a defensive tackle?

The 49er imagination is improving. For the first time in years they did not send Ken Willard up the middle on their first offensive play of the game in their opener in Miami. Of course that would have been difficult to do under any circumstances, since Willard wasn't playing. But at least they did send their halfback, Vic Washington, through the line.

ENTERTAINMENT REVIEW CORNER: We've never recommended a movie in this column, but today we establish precedent. Go see "Bang the Drum Slowly" at the Stage Door in San Francisco. Ostensibly it's a "baseball movie," but in reality it's a great comment on the maturing process and how it relates to death. It makes you laugh and cry, just like Damon Runyon used to do.

"Drum" is based on a 17-year-old novel of the same title by Mark Harris, the former San Francisco State creative writing professor and baseball buff. When we read it then we thought it was the best sportsnovel ever done. When it was produced on Playhouse 90, starring an unknown named Paul Newman, we thought it was the best thing on sports we had ever seen done on television drama. Now, you know what we think of it as a movie.



PEEK-A-BOO — Serra High junior defensive tackle Matt Walters, a mere baby at 6-3, 200 pounds, was one of the Padre front wall that bedevilled Woodside's All-State quarterback Jack Henderson Friday. Serra won the big non-league clash, 34-27.

Signups Now Underway for Pacifica Recreation Programs

Signups are now being taken for third through sixth grade kickball for girls and flag football for boys.

Permission slips must be returned by Oct. 2, to local recreation leaders to be eligible to participate.

Girl's kickball will be played during the week, while Boy's Flag football will be played on Saturdays between 10 and 4 p.m. in the north at Sharp Park and the south at Ortega.

THE FALL schedule of the Cartoon Carnival kicks off the he Roatdrunner, Little Lulu, Noveltoon, Bugs Bunny and a special Little Rascals in "Forgotten Babies." Popcorn and punch are available at all performances.

Cartoons will be shown between 3:30 and 4:45 p.m. in the multi-purpose room for 10 cents. The Fall Cartoon Carnival schedule may be picked up from local recreation leaders.

J.-TEEN CLUBS are starting at Ortega, Sharp Park, Westview and Vallemar schools for all seventh and eighth grade students of Pacifica.

Each club will have their own J-Teen council to help recreation leaders plan club activities.

Applications for membership may be obtained at vocal school offices, the J-Teen Drop-In program Friday nights or at City Hall.

Cost is $1.50 which covers membership through next summer.

Drop-in programs will include games, arts and crafts, dances, field trips and sports nights. There will be city-wide dance on Halloween and Christmas.

The first Drop-in program at Ortega and Sharp Park will be Sept. 28, from 7 to 9 p.m. Westview and Valiemar will meet on alternate Fridays beginning Oct. 5.

ORTEGA J-Teen Club will dance to the sounds of Blue Angus Sept. 28 as they audition for J-Teen Fall programs. The lively group "Osprey" will audition at the Sharp Park J-Teen Club Drop-In also Sept. 28.

Quarterback Pushes for Panther Win

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

It takes a smart lad to handle the tough Wishbone offense.

Burlingame High School's Mike Glafkides hits with a near-perfect grade-point-average in the classroom and on the football field he ain't no slouch either.

Running his squad's offense with brilliant precision, Glafkides led the Panthers to a 25-0 decimation of visiting Oceana Friday afternoon in a game that saw Burlingame run up 333 yards rushing offense over, under, around and through the Shark defense.

Passing just enough to keep things honest the Panthers hit on five of nine tries for another 53 yards and served notice they will be a contender if they can maintain yesterday's high degree of execution perfection.

Glafkides optioned like a college QB and smartly knew just when to flip the ball to either Dave Steils or Steve Mahlstead going wide or fullback Ron Lawson up the gut.

Westmoor Offense Whips Crestmoor

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

Westmoor fans had been waiting for the Ram offense to open up since the end of last football season but no one around was ready for the scoring orgy that covered Burlingame High School's field Friday night.

Least of all the Crestmoor Falcons.

Westmoor started slowly but surely and came on like a stampede in the last three periods to paste a 55-7 loss on the Falcons, the second win for the Rams and the second loss for the Falcons in pre-season play.

The Ram defense put the clamps on the Falcon running game all night and ended up by stopping it with a minus 36 yards. Westmoor, meanwhile totaled 260 yards on the ground and another 200 aerial yards.

Again this week, as against South San Francisco, only a good performance (considering all the pressure throws he had to make) by senior quarterback Chuck Chavez kept the game respectable for a while.

But the Ram offense, all undergraduates, kept gaining momentum until the final gun. Quarterback Harold Day, a junior, hit six of 12 for 200 yards and ran for 34 more while halfback Rob Baptista, another 11th grader, got game honors with 115 yards in 17 carries.

Baptista scored on runs of nine and 18 yards and took a 73-yard screen play in for a third touchdown. Reserve halfback Ricky Wyatt carried the ball nine times for 47 yards and two more touchdowns in the second half.

It's been a tough season for Crestmoor already. The Falcons have faced the two top contenders in the North Peninsula League, South San Francisco and Westmoor, and have been outscored 97-20. This week's preseason finale sends the Falcons against another NPL team, co-defending champion Half Moon Bay, a team that like Crestmoor, could be suffering through some rebuilding worries.

CSM Bulldogs Stun American River

By FRED BAER
Post Correspondent

"It was probably the best defensive game we've played in my five years here."

That's how College of San Mateo's Steve Shafer described his first victory as a head coach, 17-0 at American River Saturday night.

Shafer, who had been the Bulldog defensive coach for four years until replacing Ted Tollner (now at San Diego State), stated, "We couldn't have played any better defensively. They had run for 350 yards the week before and we held them to 51.

In fact American River's total offense was just 79 yards, compared to CSM's 450. The offensive point total was kept down by seven Bulldog turnovers, however — giving the defense a lot of work. ARC's efforts netted only four first downs, two in each half — with only two runs over six yards and no pass longer than nine yards.

Pass-minded Santa Monica (2-0) will give CSM another good test Saturday afternoon at College Heights.

Shafer was especially pleased with his linebackers — Barry Hyde from Menlo-Atherton, who had nine unassisted tackles plus five assists; Paul Brandow from Carlmont, with seven solo shots; and soph Mike Cozad out of South San Francisco.

Cozad also had his moment on offense as one of the double tight ends in CSM's power I formation. He hooked up with quarterback John Salomon on 25-yard pass and run play which climaxed a 61-yard drive just into the second quarter. It was the first TD in Cozad's gridiron career and provided the only points CSM needed.

Salomon's 51-yard pass to Ron Spurlock set-up Steve La-Plante's 26-yard field goal later in the quarter.

Both Cozad and frosh tackle Mike Solari from El Camino recovered Beaver fumbles in the third period but San Mateo turned the ball right back again.

Finally, in the fourth stanza, quarterback Chinto Fonseca marched the Bulldogs 84 yards in just six plays. Besides Rich Clarke's spectacular leaping catch of a 26-yard Fonseca pass, frosh Steve Myers from Hillsdale accounted for most of the yardage on runs of 38, 8, and 3 yards — the last burst providing the clinching points with 9:11 left.

Although it rained for four hours, right up to the start of the game, weather and field conditions were relatively good throughout the contest as nearly all of CSM's 52-man traveling squad saw action. Frosh tailback Larry Croon from San Mateo High made his CSM debut with a 12 for 64-yard performance as one of 14 Bulldog ball carriers.

Midway through the second quarter McCoy hit four for four on an 80-yard drive, the final 35 coming on a strike to McWhirter, who slanted underneath another receiver at the 10 and ran the rest of the way untouched.

The first came from one yard out on a 62-yard third quarter drive. The 5-8, 179-pound Bohling set up the second with a twisting, bumping 27-yard run to the Tiger ten, where he lateraled to McIntyre, who drove to the two. Bohling took it in from there.

Hillsdale, No. 4 in The Times county rankings, upped its record to 2-0. No. 5 ranked Terra Nova dropped to 1-1.

McCoy finished with 12 completions in 17 attempts for 154 yards, with two interceptions. Bohling picked up 60 yards in nine carries.

In the closing seconds, the Tigers got to the Hillsdale 17 on an interference penalty, but sub defensive back Paul Perry saved the shutout with an interception on the final play.

Giving New Life to Hawks

By ALAN QUALE

"Regal" and "Tamar" are two red-tailed hawks whose two years of life have not always been the most pleasant.

"Regal" has never really known what it is like to be a free-flying hawk. He managed to escape briefly from an unknown falcon trainer, but was later spotted roosting in a tree in Belmont (trainer's leather bands fastened around his legs). Peninsula Humane Society officers arrived and recaptured the hapless bird.

"Tamar" is a female hawk who was discovered with an injured leg and battered tail feathers on a ranch near Half Moon Bay. She, too, had apparently escaped from some novice human captor. Tamar was also fetched by Humane Society officers.

Both are once again in human captivity — their brief spurts of freedom dismally ended.

It was inevitable that two jailed birds with so much in common would take a liking towards each other. "Regal" and "Tamar" now roost together in their new cage, passing glances at each other as passionate as hawk protocol allows.

Their new cage, however, is only temporary. Soon the two birds will fly free. Together.

But first, they must be taught to kill mice and rats and fend for themselves in the bush.

Regal and Tamar's present captors are teaching them just that.

The "instructors" are California Fish and Game Warden Max J. Krueger and Peninsula Humane Society Officer Clifford Lindquist. The two men recently started a program to return captured and injured animals to the wilds.

Using their own funds and time, the two men have nurtured and trained four red-tailed hawks, two barn owls and a sparrow hawk to live in the wilds during the past year.

It hasn't been easy, Lindquist said, noting perhaps the most difficult part of the training is to "de-man" the animals, a term he invented to describe disassociating the animal's dependence upon man.

Regal and Tamar are therefore seeing less and less of their trainers. The two hawks will soon be set upon five-foot perches in an open field somewhere in the San Francisco watershed property.

For a period of seven to ten days, the hawks will sit on the perches with strings attached to their legs to prevent them from flying completey away from the stand.

"They will see mice, ground squirrels and the food they are to live on in the field when set free," Krueger said.

The only time the two hawks will see their trainers during this final phase is a brief period each day when water and food is delivered to the stand. At the end of the final phase, they will be set free.

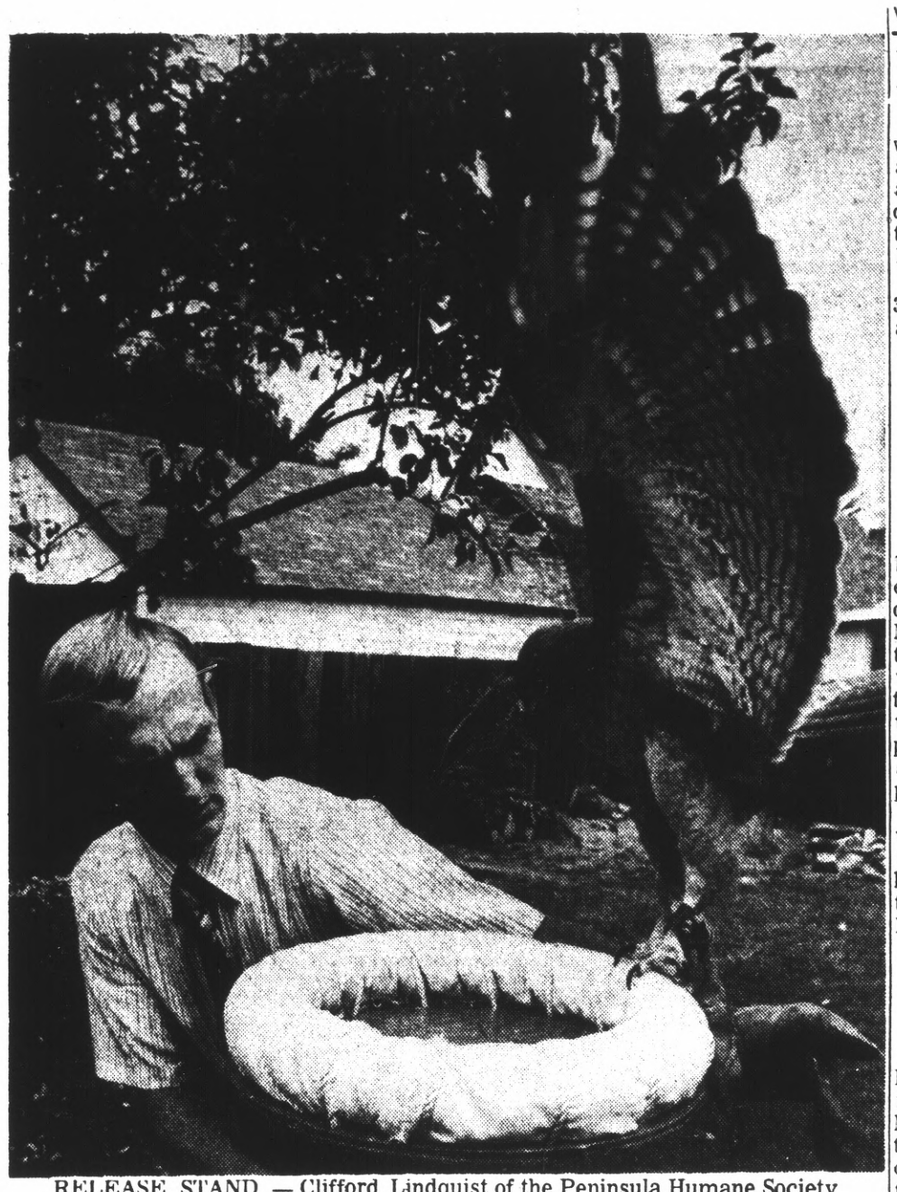
"It's a lot of work," said Lindquist, noting that the birds must be first nurtured to good health if they are injured when obtained. They must also be exercised as well as taught to kill their prey.

Krueger and Lindquist admit their self-initiated program is nothing new. The San Francisco Zoo has been operating such a program for some time as well as the Junior Museum of Walnut Creek.

The two men hope to expand their program here on the Peninsula and coordinate it with the other Bay Area animal release programs.

Man has been taking wild animas from their habitats and pacing them in captivity for too long, according to Keruger.

"It's time man starts taking those animals and putting them back in the wild," the warden concluded.



RELEASE STAND — Clifford Lindquist of the Peninsula Humane Society introduces Tamar, a two-year-old hawk, to a stand which she will perch upon for one week in the wilds.

Lung Disease Checkup Told

Health checkups to give early warning of lung diseases will be available to the public as well as school employes every Monday (except holidays) in front of the Lung Association office, 2250 Palm Ave., San Mateo.

The hours of operation will be 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. for chest X-rays and breathing tests and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. for skin tests.

Christmas Seals defray some of the cost. To help cover the remainder, there is a service fee for each test. For school employes, the skin test or X-ray is paid by the district.

Lost Funds Returned

A pair of young Foster City boys found $110 over the weekend but today don't have a dime of it. Jamey House, 11, and Mark Cleaver, 12, were visiting the Los Prados shopping center when they found a wallet containing the $110. There was identification in the wallet and the parents of one of the boys was able to find the owner. "We explained," one of the parents said, "that they probably wouldn't get any reward but that they should return the wallet." They agreed and turned the wallet back to the owners, a Latin-American family in San Mateo.

Wine Tour

The Fifty-Five Plus Club of Foster City will conduct a winery tour of Napa Valley Oct. 3. Members and guests are invited to attend the tour which will include lunch. For more information on the tour, call Foster City Parks and Recreation Department.

S.M. Mental Health Director Resigns

Frank E. Cooper, Executive Director of the Mental Health Association of San Mateo County, recently announced his resignation to assume the same position in the Los Angeles area.

Dr. Harvey C. Small, President of the Mental Health Association, said, "It is with regret the Board accepts the resignation of Cooper. He has done an outstanding job for mental health in San Mateo County and he will be missed."

Cooper came to the Mental-Health Association four years ago from the Arthritis Foundation in Southern California. During his stay in San Mateo, he helped develop the Drug Abuse Youth Advisory Council which is active in sponsoring programs on alternatives to drug abuse. He was also on the Citizen's Committee responsible for the organization of Stambaugh House, a community mental health facility in Redwood City. The Mental Health Association serves as a fiscal agent for Stambaugh House.

In cooperation with the North County Mental Health Center, Mr. Cooper helped to develop the Parent-Child Communications Course which has reached hundreds of parents in Pacifica and Daly City.

New Enlistment Opportunities for Women.
The Army Reserve is offering new enlistment options for women who can't spare the time for a long period of initial training. If you already have certain civilian skills and experience you spend as little as two weeks away from home—and job. Or, if you don't have one of these skills you can take part of your training now, and the rest later. Dial 561-5752. Or call toll free 1-800-652-1200. 8 AM to 7 PM weekdays.

Opportunities in Communications.
Radio and Relay Operators
Radio Broadcasters
Communications Specialists
Switchboard Operators
Linemen
Field Radio Repair
Teletype Operators
Circuit Specialists
Generator Operators
Printers
Local Army Reserve units are looking for men and women with or without previous military experience. If you have experience, great. If not, we'll give you the training you need. Dial 561-5752. Or call toll free 1-800-652-1200. 8 AM to 7 PM weekdays.

Veterans: Need an Extra Job?
You can earn a good extra income by serving in a local Army Reserve unit. For instance, an E-5 with 3 years experience can earn $58.52 (less tax) for a weekend meeting. One meeting each month plus two weeks at summer camp adds up to $921.69 (less tax) for the year. Plus PX privileges and retirement benefits. Interested? Dial 561-5752. Or call toll free 1-800-652-1200. 8 AM to 7 PM weekdays.

Immediate Openings in the San Francisco Area.
Your local Army Reserve unit needs the skills of men and women with or without previous military experience for 16 hours a month and two weeks each summer. When you join you'll earn from $2.56 to $4.50 an hour. Plus promotion and retirement benefits. If you don't have one of the skills listed, let's talk about your learning one. Here are some of the job fields open right now in local units.
Construction Equipment Operators and Repairmen
Automotive Drivers and Mechanics
Carpenters and Electricians
Plumbers
Welders
Stenographers/Typists
Administrative Specialists
Supply Specialists
Aircraft Repair
Air Traffic Control
Intelligence Analysts
Foreign Language Specialists
Chaplain's Assistants
Athletic Directors
Food Service Supervisors
Cooks
Parachute Riggers
Platoon Sergeants
Divers
Interested in one of these jobs? Dial 561-5752. Or call toll free 1-800-652-1200. 8 AM to 7 PM weekdays.

New Enlistment Opportunity for Men.
Ask about our 4-year unit enlistment plan available now. You serve in a local Army Reserve unit for 4 years and then have the option of transferring to an inactive status for the balance of your obligation. Dial 561-5752. Or call toll free 1-800-652-1200. 8 AM to 7 PM weekdays.

Learn a Foreign Language.
Army Reserve units in this area have immediate openings for foreign language specialists. Even if you don't speak another language now, we'll train you at the Army's foreign language school in Monterey. You can select from one of 24 languages. You can also earn a year's worth of college credits during the course. Dial 561-5752. Or call toll free 1-800-652-1200. 8 AM to 7 PM weekdays.

Openings for Medical Skills.
Men and women with or without previous military experience are needed to join local Army Reserve units. If you don't have one of the skills listed, let's talk training.
Licensed Practical Nurse
Medical Assistants
Operating Room Technicians
Neuropsychiatric Specialists
Lab Technicians
Physical Therapy Specialists
Dial 561-5752. Or call toll free 1-800-652-1200. 8 AM to 7 PM weekdays.

Experienced and Inexperienced Help Needed.
Army Reserve units in your area are looking for people with and without the skills listed. If you have no experience we can give it to you. We'll teach you all you need to know to earn a good extra income as an Army Reservist, and get a good start toward a civilian job. Dial 561-5752. Or call toll free 1-800-652-1200. 8 AM to 7 PM weekdays.

*The exact number of job-training programs depends upon the skill requirements of the local Reserve unit. If you've had no previous military experience you get some initial active duty training.
